Foreword

When we entered East Orange High School four years ago as Freshmen, graduation seemed to be the height of achievement. Now we stand with graduation within our sight, and we realize that we are about to surmount only one of the many mountains which will face us throughout our careers. Whether we leave East Orange High School to enter college, the armed services, or business we shall all be required to overcome many mountains, large and small. As we top each peak in the future, we shall look back at our sojourn in high school with gratefulness for the excellent preparation we have had. In this yearbook we will try to show our gratitude to our school and our hopes for the future.

ROBERT B. REDMAN

Mr. Redman confers with Miss Massiah on the day's schedule.

It is with great plasure that we welcome you, Mr. Robert B. Redman, to the position of principal of East Orange High School. Within these walls can be found students from all walks of life, students with many different goals, but all passing through the same doors only to emerge one day into life, one step closer to their goal. Through your understanding and guidance, the road to this goal can be made easier to travel. May your newly acquired position prove to be one of challenge to you in the opportunity that it offers you to help students along the road to success and in the opportunity it offers you, in service to students and community alike, to become a leader among the great educators of today.

Dedication

Mr. William F. Bauer, of the Department of English, is one who has ably served East Orange as teacher for thirty-nine years and as chairman for twenty-five of them. Mr. Bauer received his B.S. degree at the College of the City of New York; his A.M. degree at New York University.

He has made time in a busy schedule to do a great deal of outside teaching, including summer sessions in East Orange, and more recently, at the University of Maine. Besides this teaching he has made many contributions to professional publications and edited several books for school use. Students here will best remember Fortitude, Short Stories in Parallel (co-editor, Mr. Paul Bowden), The Greatest American Short Stories (co-editor, A. Grove Day).

Mr. Bauer is a member and a former officer of many national, state, and local educational associations. He is currently serving as the Curriculum Co-ordinator for the East Orange Public Schools.

As a chairman, Mr. Bauer has endeavored to maintain high standards in his department by the fine quality of his teachers and by the careful choice of texts. In planning courses he has never forgotten the needs and interests of the students.

As a teacher Mr. Bauer has shown many fine traits. Outstanding are his insistence on accuracy for those planning to enter business, his patient help so that all might grow in maturity, his appreciation of the human qualities in each one, and his belief that all students are capable of worthwhile achievement. Students fortunate enough to have been in his classes will long recall his keen wit and fitting use of language.

There is nothing more important to young people today than preparation for a career, and guiding that preparation is what Mr. Philip I. Towle does for many students at East Orange High School in his capacity as Chairman of the Department of Business Education. Mr. Towle himself studied at several colleges including Bowdoin College, Boston University, where he received his B.A. degree, and New Jersey Law School.

During his forty-five years in education Mr. Towle has taught widely in the Northeast in public and private schools. He came to East Orange thirty-six years ago; besides his teaching duties in the High School, Mr. Towle has been the Director of the East Orange Adult School since its beginning. He has also been an officer in many educational associations.

PHILIP I. TOWLE

As chairman, Mr. Towle has had a difficult position requiring him to keep his department modern in a business world that is constantly changing in techniques and equipment. His careful choice of teachers and planning of work has made it possible for graduates to fit easily into busy office work.

Mr. Towle has proved himself to be a goodnatured and understanding teacher, one who is well liked by his students. He has made his classes as interesting as they are informative, and this is certainly the mark of a superior teacher. In addition to having learned in his classes many marketable skills, students will retain the sense of pleasure that comes from doing in an orderly and superior way all the tasks that face them.

Mr. Donald E. Hosmer, Chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages, received his A.B. from Dartmouth, his A.M. from Brown, and has done graduate work there and at several other colleges, including the Sorbonne in Paris. He also spent some time in the Navy and in teaching before he came to East Orange High School in 1922.

Learning a new language is for most students a new and exciting experience. It can also be a difficult task, but under Mr. Hosmer's guidance as chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages, the students at this school are assured of the best teachers and books to make this task as clear and understandable as possible while keeping it still a challenge to the best in a scholar. This is true whether a student chooses Latin, French, Spanish, or Italian.

Mr. Hosmer is himself an excellent teacher who enjoys languages and helps his students to appreciate them as he does, both in conversational use and in their literature. He has great patience with the true student, helping him over rough spots and guiding him to a better understanding of his own language while he learns the new one. Mr. Hosmer's pupils should recall in later years their glow of success when at last they enjoyed a story in French without first translating it.

To Mr. Bauer, to Mr. Towle, and to Mr. Hosmer, the Class of 1957 extends its deep appreciation for their many years of service and understanding guidance and expresses the wish that all three will have many happy years of retirement with their families.

DONALD E. HOSMER

In these, our tributes to Miss Marjorie Peel, our former Librarian, and to Mr. Herald A. Jones, former director of the Department of Vocal Music, we wish to express our gratitude and sincere appreciation for their memorable contributions to East Orange High School. Because of the time of their retirement we were unable to include our tributes to these teachers in The Syllabus of 1956.

Miss Marjorie Peel, in retiring from her position as Librarian of East Orange High School, has left the school and students with both a fine, well organized library, and many fond memories. When Miss Peel came to East Orange High School, our library was small and unorganized in comparison to that of the present day. Through her efforts in behalf of the library, Miss Peel has done a remarkable job in maintaining the fine reputation of our school. For all of us Miss Peel, besides being the librarian, was an adviser, friend, and helper when necessary. The Library Council, an organization which she instituted and led, is now an important part of our extra-curricular activities. Miss Marjorie Peel will long be remembered for her outstanding contributions to East Orange High School.

MARJORIE E. PEEL

HERALD A. JONES

Everyone at East Orange High School has at one time or another enjoyed the performances of our outstanding musical groups, of which we are very proud. Because of the fine direction and untiring efforts of Mr. Herald A. Jones, we now boast of an extraordinarily fine Department of Vocal Music. This department is so varied in its activities that it is now able to include almost any student showing an interest in music. Through Mr. Jones's unselfish devotion, the students and community may now enjoy the splendid musical interpretations of an A Cappella Choir, a Spirituals Choir, a Boys' Glee Club, two Girls' Glee Clubs, and a specialty group called the Vocal Ensemble. Our annual Christmas and Spring Concerts and other musical performances have become traditions at East Orange High School only through the fine quality of work produced by Mr. Herald A. Jones. East Orange High School can never completely express in words its gratitude to Mr. Jones, but its students through their participation in the musical activities continue to appreciate his contributions to their lives.

Board of Education

Without the cooperation and understanding of the Board of Education, many improvements and new ideas could not have been established in the school. Probably the most recent actions will be remembered better than those of the past. This year many new teachers were appointed to the teaching staff, providing new and fresh personalities and practices. Along with the addition of new teachers was the establishment of the office of assistant superintendent.

Still foremost in the minds of both the student body and the Board of Education are the plans for the new addition to the school. These have been elaborated and are being considered more fully by the Board.

On behalf of East Orange High School students we wish to thank the Board of Education for these contributions and many others to East Orange High School during our years within its walls.

Dallas Lore Sharp once stated that there were about a dozen outstanding events in his youth which had a more permanent, positive effect on his life than all other happenings put together. He called these the "Mountain Peaks of Experience."

The East Orange school system is set up to provide students with a multitude of "mountain peaks of experience". Our homes and our religious organizations do the same. East Orange young people are indeed fortunate. Proof of this is the large number of alumni who return and frequently tell us of their deep-felt appreciation for advantages gained because of earlier opportunities in this fine community.

HENRY E. KENTOPP

DR. HENRY E. KENTOPPSuperintendent of Schools

ROBERT B. REDMAN, M.A. Principal

The theme "Climbing Mountains" chosen by the Senior Class for this year's Syllabus is most appropriate. The never-ending educational process is the attainment of one "peak" after another for those who are successful.

Many started with you on your climb toward the well-known peak called Graduation. Some faltered in the climb and decided to remain on lower levels, but you have persevered to this much-desired pinnacle. You are to be congratulated for your diligence and your fortitude. I know that I express the sentiment of all members of the faculty when I say that we are proud of your achievement and that we fervently hope that our association with you has helped to give you the inspiration and the guidance necessary to reach this much-desired height.

We earnestly hope, too, that you will not be content to remain on this summit, but, in the exhilaration of your recent accomplishment, you will press onward and upward to even greater heights, which are almost limitless to those of vision in this wonderful country in which we live.

Class History

As we entered East Orange High School for the first time, what thoughts of awe and curiosity entered our heads! We were greeted by upperclassmen eagerly selling us tickets for the elevator. At the New Student Party we made new friends and met former acquaintances. At the Harvest Hop we got right into the spirit of E. O. square dancing to Fred Riecke's combo. In our first football game we defeated Belleville and then went on to become State CoChamps by upsetting a powerful Montclair squad 27-19. A well-fought 12-0 victory over Barringer brought the Old Guard Trophy to E. O. Then came December and the annual Christmas concert, many of us singing in it or hearing it for the first time. After a long, welldeserved Christmas vacation we were back at the old grind and were soon faced with our first exams which, after all is said and done, were not so bad as we were made to believe. At the Junior Prom we could be found dancing in a "Winter Wonderland." That Spring we saw our first G. O. election with the many signs, buttons, and Assembly skits. Soon the grad dance with its "Hawaiian Paradise" found us bidding goodbye to the departing Seniors. As we completed our Freshman year, we were filled with new inspirations and ambitions to be carried out in the coming years.

Sophomores-with mixed feelings of pride and confidence in "our" school, we welcomed the newcomers from V.L.D., and got better acquainted with them at our annual FreshmanSophomore Hop. Our football season that year was tremendous, with the mighty E.O. Panthers winning eight games out of their schedule of nine.

Another memorable date was December 16. The entire student body mechanically filed out of the school in what seemed to be just another fire drill, only to find out that this time it was the real thing. We feared for the choir robes, since the Christmas Concert was to be held on that same night; but the show went on, in spite of the smell of smoke trailing behind every robed singer.

Mid-years came and went, and the year began to speed by with the elegance of the Junior Prom, the suspense of the Senior Class-Faculty Play, Hangman's Noose, and the excitement of campaigning for G.O. elections. As we bade farewell to another wonderful class of Seniors, we suddenly realized that next year we too, would be upperclassmen.

Finally we were upperclassmen. Our football team had another fine year climaxed by our defeat of Barringer on Thanksgiving. The Christmas Concert with the opera Amahl and the Night Visitors was one of the best yet. After Christmas vacation came those pesty exams and finally our very own Junior Prom. Joan Conradi, our queen, and her princesses made a gorgeous sight in "Snowflake Swirl." The fine music and pretty decorations added to the pleasure of the evening! Our basketball team lost to Seton Hall in the Semi-Finals of the Essex County Tournament. With a 17 -won and 3 -lost record, we had one of the best teams in years. Many of our lettermen were returning, and we looked upon the next basketball season with much hope. My Sister Eileen, an uproarious comedy, was our school play this year. The fine acting of talented teachers and students made it a success. The G.O. elections were the most important yet because our class was taking over the Student Council. Nominations were held for the first time in a Convention. Then followed the campaign, with signs, speeches, slogans, etc. When the ballots had finally been tallied, Bruce Callen was Presi dent; Flora Conte, Vice-President; Barbara Quinn, Secretary; and Don Gfroerer, Treasurer. With the grad dance and graduation coming, we extended our best wishes to the Seniors whom we had come to respect. The last few days of school were filled with constant scrambles for yearbook signatures. The long summer finally arrived, with anticipation for the coming year in all our hearts.

Seniors at last! We had almost reached the peak of graduation. Lee Sager, Doug Smalls, Joan Conradi, and Carmella Silvestri, elected by the Senior Class to be its President, VicePresident, Secretary, and Treasurer respectively, soon proved worthy of their offices.

After Mr. Knight's retirement, Mr. Redman became our new Principal, leaving the position of football coach vacant. Dr. Fuoss, ably filling this post, gave E. O. an admirable football season which was topped off with another Red and Blue Victory over Barringer. Once again we kept the coveted Old Guard Trophy in our possession.

The Christmas Concert, spiced with new ideas, was put on through the efforts of Mr. Gilbert, in the usual splendid tradition established by our former music director, Mr. Jones.

Our last mid-years! How glad we were to get them over with; and yet they were just another reminder of how little time we had left. Seniors became more aware of the many "lasts": Our last Jr. Prom, our last campaigning for G.O. elections; our last Junior-Senior Assembly. A tip of the hat to Mr. Mohn for the successful comeback of the hilarious play, The Man Who Came to Dinner. This helped to break our sentimental mood, and before we knew it, we were dancing to the music of our own grad dance with its perfect setting and its very lovely queen. And then the long-awaited day, Graduation! And so, all the Seniors, each with his own very special memories of high school days, stands on this final peak as he says farewell to his Alma Mater.

E. O.'s alumni look back on their days here with fond memories. It is not difficult to see why. Here there is a spirit of friendship and loyalty that is not easily forgotton. So that the students, especially the seniors, may never forget their school, the Syllabus Staff presents on pages scattered throughout the book an informal pictorial record of life in East Orange High School.

The familar tower beckons every morning as students race the 8:30 bell with one eye on its clock.

Today,
A beginning
Of what we shall be.
Behold in the mirror
We see all dreams!
Some will come true
And some must die,
Yet the promise is there.
Keep it safe;
Don't wonder why.
Tomorrow
We'll look at the peak,
Unattainable now, and laugh
At the child so weak and afraid
Who clung to the remnants
Of yesterday.
On the pinnacles of faith
Will stand to serve humanity
McCleary in the ministry;
Smith and Somma, doctors
Well renowned throughout the world.
The worthy tomes on politics
By Alan Siegel, Ph.D.,
Must be studied, near and far,
By teachers of our history.
The Sackin-Van Oostendorp case
Was for a fee handled with skill
By that ambitious lawyer, John Hatcher.
In new cities of steel and glass
Reverberate sounds of the atomic age-
Philip Harrison is the young engineer,
Karl Bathman, the artist whose work
Adorns buildings and homes
Of millionaire Sager
And that actress Giordano.
In his shiny new Jaguar
Goes Gruendel, the client-stalker,
After his prey.
In the meantime the bells ring
At Overbrook too-
Dr. Brenda Meratchnik, a surgeon of note,
Will take a vacation,
Or preferably two;
The wit of Miss Fraser
Easily takes form in an antic
By which we can tell that
Her college degrees
Haven't made her the least bit pedantic.
The Wytiaz sisters,
Pert and sweet,
The world at large
Is glad to meet
As hostesses petite
At Brodie's Gourmet Club.

Joan Conradi must study her verbs: She married the boss, and They've gone to Spain. Edith Dabney's so engrossed With sounds of modern jazz That her career of therapy

Psychology, astrology, symbolical logic Lindenfield, Martell, and Rapkin take up; And as Dr. Fielo philosophized, The minds of many have ossified, Yet Doug Smalls will dance, Laurette Holmes will sing, And Roskein will while the time away With cronies Corlin and Hanifan Designing tomorrow's rockets today. Three-fourths of the world

In peace and harmony?
The cynics sit sipping
Their cups of tea:
Peter Carey remarks with a smirk

Carol Wyckoff serenely composes a dance
Of violent death and bitter emotion; Margot Barnes is thinking of a brilliant New painting concerning the passing

Of an entire nation; Sue Frazin triumphantly Wallows in pain-the unhappy Heroine of a tragedy by O'Neill.

And after tomorrow
Is another day,
Another mountain,
Another way.
Do we cower in fear, Or imperturable now, Stand serenely in view? Let life do what it may.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Under the capable leadership of President Bruce Callen, Vice-President Flora Conte, Secretary Barbara Quinn, and Treasurer Don Gfroerer, the General Organization of East Orange High School has compiled an impressive and commendable record of events for the past year.

Proving to be one of the most successful groups, the Cafeteria Committee, under the direction of Marlene DeRosa, established a milk bar, thereby decreasing the number of students in the lunch line. The Assembly Committee also put forth great effort in promoting exchange assemblies with the schools in the Oranges and Newark.

Through the efforts of the General Organization and the officers of the Student Council of Columbia High School, a combined jazz concert was presented.

Numerous committees were formed during the past year to look into pressing matters. The Student Dress Committee sent out a questionaire to observe the students' reaction to proper school attire. Another committee was formed to investigate the problem of the crowded No. 96 bus. Many students felt that this bus was inadequate to carry East Orange students and that another bus should be added to the route between eight and eight-fifteen a.m.

East Orange High School was the scene of the first meeting of the InterOranges Congress for the year 1957. Our president, Bruce Callen, presided over the meeting, the members of which discussed controversial issues brought up during student council meetings.

Also undertaken by the General Organization was a Clean-Up campaign. Students were urged to do their part in maintaining the appearance of the school.

One of the newly appointed committees, the Parking Lot Committee, headed by Richard Corlin, contributed a great deal to the establishment of a student parking lot. All the student's cars were registered, signs were erected in the parking lot, and adequate space was provided for each car.

Carmela Silvestri introduced a bill which provided for a banking system in the school. By this plan students opened bank accounts with the Howard Savings Institution and deposited their money with the home room teachers once a week.

Another new group, the Music Committee, which is a branch of the Cafeteria Committee, secured the records played during the lunch periods.

The Elections Committee conducted the elections of class officers and home room representatives to student council in October and took charge of the election of General Organization officers in April.

After a fruitful year of many accomplishments, the last meeting of the General Organization was adjourned by the newly-elected student council officers.

Under the guidance of Miss Leinonen and Social Committee co-chairmen, Carol Wyckoff and Henry Lyon, the East Orange High School social season was a tremendous success. Getting the year off to a good start, the New Student Party held on September 28 gave over three hundred Pantherites a chance to enjoy dancing, entertainment, and refreshments, at the same time enabling them to become better acquainted with one another.

Next on the social calendar was the Sadie Hawkins Day Square Dance, sponsored by the underclassmen and held early in November in the girls' gymnasium. Dancing to the music of Fred Riecke's Country Orchestra in a setting straight from the pen of Al Capp, the students easily imagined themselves in Dogpatch, U.S.A. In February, cheery winter snow scenes and gay pastel snowflakes in a "Winter Wonderland" setting made the annual Junior Prom a dance that will long be remembered. The Rambler's Orchestra provided music while the Social Committee once again showed its great ability for organizing the many social events in a school year. Highlighting the colorful evening was the crowning of Barbara Larsen as Prom Queen.

By far the most exciting event, though, was the Grad Dance held in June when formally attired students danced to the music of a popular orchestra in a Japanese setting. The traditional senior Grand March and the magnificent coronation of the queen of the dance climaxed an already memorable evening.

The NEWS

Selling subscriptions and advertising; uncovering and writing stories; drawing cartoons and planning pages; composing headlines; editing and arranging; distributing the final product-this is the evolution of an awardwinning paper.

With the meeting of the editors, the process of composing the NEWS begins. Here possible story material is discussed and decisions concerning make-up are made. Assignment day soon follows, and within hours busy reporters are seen racing from place to place, culling the information that will enable them to write their stories.

When most Pantherities are doing homework or just relaxing, the lights in 213 are still burning. Typewriters glow white-hot, red pencils quickly become mere stubs, and reams of paper are consumed in the actual writing of the NEWS. After being proofread, the paper is finally ready for the printers; then four days later, on Galley Day, the NEWS returns to the school for last-minute corrections. Once again it is sent to the printers, though the work of turning out a first-rate paper is not yet complete. There is still the job of counting the papers after delivery to the school and distributing them to the homerooms. Once the NEWS reaches the students, the cycle begins again. Local merchants are canvassed for advertising, and the subscription campaign is intensified.

Under the direction of Editor-in-Chief Steven Rosen, Advisor Mr. Loesch, Business Advisor Dr. Risinger, and through the efforts of all the tyros, reporters, cartoonists, and star reporters, the NEWS is issued twelve times during the school year. An example of ability and industriousness, our school newspaper is heartily approved of and faithfully read by more than 1300 students and teachers.

DEPARTMENT OF VOCAL MUSIC

When the members of the music groups of East Orange High School entered the music room last September, they found themselves face to face with two big surprises. The first of these was the newly renovated room whose brightly colored chairs added gaiety to the scene, and the second and the more important was the arrival of a new music director, Mr. George Gilbert, whose career with us, we hope, will be long and successful. Under the supervision of Mr. Gilbert and the experienced eyes of Mrs. Elsie P. Davis, who is really much more to us all than an accompanist, the Christmas Concert was presented on December 13 and 14 .

Our annual Spring Concert in April was characteristic of that time, providing gay, delightful melodies which served as a pleasant introduction to the newly-arrived season. One of our fondest memories of the music department is the yearly trip to the Metropolitan Opera House which so many of our music lovers eagerly await.

We at East Orange High School are especially fortunate in having such a varied and excellent selection of music groups from which to choose. There are six different organizations encompassing two Girls' Glee Clubs, an A Cappella Choir, the Spirituals Choir, the Boys' Glee Club, and a specialty group, the Vocal Ensemble. Certainly the direction and management of these organizations is no easy task, but we know that with the continued cooperation of the student body and the faculty, East Orange High School will present rich and enthusiastic musical programs for many years to come.

GIRLS' STUDY HALL COUNCIL

Under the guidance of Miss Ellen Leinonen, the Girls' Study Hall Council has completed its thirty-sixth successful year at East Orange High School.

Recommended by their teachers in their sophomore year according to their scholarship and citizenship records, the girls are given a two-week trial period in which they are taught the fundamental duties of a chairman, which include, among others, the taking of the attendance, giving permission to talk, and controlling gum chewing.

President Maija Igals, Vice-President Flora Conte, and Secretary Pat Cemprola preside over the monthly meetings when the council discusses and formulates ways in which to combat problems that may have arisen during the preceding month.

As the only school that conducts any study halls without the supervision of a teacher, East Orange has become an example to other schools.

By acting as chairmen, the girls are taught the values of personal poise, leadership, and responsibilities.

Although we of the Syllabus staff are appreciative of all that has been done to make the Syllabus of 1957 an outstanding publication, the majority of students are not aware of the labor and problems involved in producing a yearbook.

The editor-in-chief is chosen from a list of possible candidates whose academic records and extra-curricular activities have been approved and whose ability to work with others has been noted. These people are interviewed by the principal, and he and his committee make the selection of an editor. Much of the work is begun in the latter part of the junior year, and in May, the editor and his chosen staff discuss possible themes for the book and attend the Columbia Scholastic Press Conference in New York, where they meet editors and sponsors from schools throughout the nation.

In the fall, work begins in earnest as the dummy is prepared for the printer, the staff receives its assignments, and the art work is begun. Under the capable direction of Miss Dorothy Upham, the students in the art classes set to work preparing illustrations for the book. When the typewritten manuscript of the book returns from the printer, the staff meets and corrects it for the final printing.

We wish to express our gratitude to the student body for its cooperation during the sales campaign, to our editorial sponsor, Miss Marion K. Bragg, whose experience has proved invaluable, and to Mr. Howard Wolverton, Jr., our capable business sponsor. We are especially proud to have worked with our fine editor-in-chief, Sharon Lindenfield, who has done an admirable piece of work.

COMMUNITY SERVICE ORGANIZATIONS

At both East Orange General Hospital and Orange Memorial Hospital, the Candystripers since their founding in 1944 have achieved a total service record of 53,000 hours of actual duty. This year's group of 45 junior aides has served after school and on Saturdays, giving an average of 120 hours per girl. Their duties imclude feeding patients, assisting in the laboratory, working in the Admitting Office and the Pediatrics Ward, and wherever they may be needed. Receiving invaluable training and experience at the hospitals, the Candystripers offer their services in return.

Originated in East Orange by their sponsor, Miss Lindsay, the Candystriper organization has spread to 45 states, to Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Israel, and Australia.

A second service club has been assisting the staff at the Valley Community Center in Orange for more than ten years. Volunteering their services to the Center, the club members aid in activities ranging from the education of preschool children to the sponsoring of programs directed toward preventing juvenile delinquency. An awareness of social problems and the development of leadership qualities are compensations for the time spent at the Center.

Both the Candystripers and the volunteers at the Valley Community Center have during the year carried out the East Orange High School's ideals of com-

FOOTBALL

Orange has the ball now, but not for long.

Although the East Orange football team had lost all of its 1955 starting backs and, a part of the line, the 1956 Panthers finished the season with an impressive 5-1-2 record and were second to Montclair in Essex County competition. This season also marked the debut of a new head coach, Dr. Donald E. Fuoss.

The opening game was a victory for the Red and Blue over Belleville. John Amos and Bob Paris each provided a touchdown, and the extra point conversion by Joe Huguenin made the difference in the 13-12 score. Against West Orange the Cats could do no more than tie, 7-7. Against Irvington, East Orange picked up seven points in each quarter for a final score of 28-7.

Although the heavily favored Montclair squad was leading only $7-0$ at the end of the first half, they broke through for 21 more points in the third and fourth quarters to hand the Panthers their first and only defeat. Bob Haines scored the first two touchdowns for the Mounties in off-tackle dives from 3 and 2 yards out. He provided for another six points in the fourth quarter with a 31 -yard scoring pass to his brother Richie. Tony Carnevale scored the final touchdown on a 75 -yard jaunt to paydirt, for a score of $28-0$ in favor of Montclair.

Alert defensive play allowed the Red and Blue to turn four West Side fumbles into four touchdowns for their own team. In the 32-6 fracas Warren Simpson led the scoring with 24 points while Paris scored the only other touchdown. It was much the same story in the $27-0$ defeat of Orange, with Amos, Hatcher, and Paris the scoring players. Joe Huguenin was the star of the 7-7 tie with Columbia, making the score for East Orange in the final minute of play.

The Barringer encounter was a suitable climax to the impressive season. The Newark City Champions lost the ball on a fumble during their first scrimmage play, and three plays later Paris tallied on a 15 -yard off-tackle run. The Big Blue went out in front in the second quarter, 7-6, as Bruce Humphrey went over on an 8 -yard sweep, but the Panthers retaliated in the last quarter. After Paris had intercepted a Barringer pass in their own territory and run it back to 16 , Huguenin carried the ball to within a few inches of the goal line. Simpson then carried it over the line to give East Orange a 12-7 victory. The sixty-year-old rivalry between the schools now stands at 28-26-6 in favor of the Red and Blue.

BASKETBALL

No one in East Orange High School was disappointed with the impressive $17-5$ record turned in by Coach Frank Milner's powerful basketball contingent through the $1956-57$ season.

With four of last year's starters forming the backbone of the team, there was only one loss due to graduation. It was flashy Leroy Curry, who last year set a new Panther high for scoring in a single game by tallying 36 points against Barringer. However, with Lee Sager, John Hatcher, Bruce Callen, and Bob Paris returning and Graham Lamond filling the vacant post, the Panthers were ranked among the best in the state.

The first encounter of the season was a disappointing setback at the hands of West Side. The underrated Newark squad hit from all over the court to take an insurmountable lead of $23-14$ at half-time. They went on to upset the Red and Blue 53-45.

The Cats soon lost their opening day jitters, however, and proceeded to eleven straight frays. With crushing victories over Orange, Kearny, Irvington, Nutley, and Montclair the Panthers proved that they were not overrated. The next close contest was with West Orange. The Cowboys never took the lead, but they came close, as the score was $12-8$ at the end of the first quarter, $25-22$ at the half, and $40-38$ at the end of the third quarter. The Red and Blue came through once again to win the game, 50-45.

Nutley, Orange, and Montclair were the next to fall, each for the second time, before Coach Milner's smooth-working power-house. The Panthers almost blew their third quarter lead over Columbia as the Cougars' Lynn Fader, Bob Scheu, and Art Bartner tallied two points apiece in the last minute of play to cut their deficit to two. East Orange held the Cougars, however, and took the game, 47-45. Lee Sager became the first hoopster in Panther history to tally 1000 points during his high school career in this game. By the end of the season he had built up his career total to 1259.

Belleville's Coach Wische pulled a slick piece of strategy on the Panthers, bringing his team to within five points of a victory. Early in the second quarter, while the Red and Blue held a 17-13 edge, the Bellboys froze the ball completely. For six minutes of play the East Orange squad waited idly for their opponents to make their move. The half ended with the Panthers still holding a 17-15 lead although they had gone scoreless throughout the entire period. The Cats added another victory to their record as they went on to take the game, $36-32$.

The battle with Bloomfield, top ranked in the Big Ten Conference, was the biggest game of the season. A crowd of 1200 packed the Bloomfield gym to witness the Bengals' thrilling double overtime victory over the Panthers. Bloomfield jumped off to an easy 18-8 first quarter lead, but the Cats came back with a strong second quarter to cut their deficit to three points, 22-19. Sparked by John Hatcher's three straight field goals in the third quarter, East Orange went into the final session trailing 31-29. Midway in the final period the Cats broke through to take a $39-35$ lead, only to be deadlocked at 41 all by the end of regulation time. Both teams went scoreless in the first overtime, but in the "sudden death" overtime that followed, Bloomfield ace Stan Kaminski tallied the winning lay-up.

West Orange benefited from the letdown after the Bloomfield encounter and handed the Cats their third setback of the season. In another overtime game the Cowboys tallied five points in the extra period as the Cats went scoreless to win 49-44.

After downing Columbia in the last Conference game of the season, the Panthers crushed Barringer 85-46. Lee Sager, by tallying 40 points, broke Leroy Curry's record for points scored in a single game.

In the opening round of the Essex County Tournament the third-seeded Panthers were faced by Our Lady of the Valley. After trailing by 10 points early in the fourth quarter, the Red and Blue cut their deficit to one with twenty seconds to go. After a set shot by Sager bounced off the rim, Bob Paris grabbed the rebound and sank a 20 -foot jump shot in the last second of play to give East Orange a 49-48 win.

East Orange rolled past West Orange in the quarter finals and found themselves faced once more by Bloomfield. In the fray the Cats took an early lead, but the Bengals caught up early in the second quarter. Despite Sager's tourney-record-tying effort of 38 points, the Bengals edged by East Orange, 61-59.

In the State Tournament the Red and Blue got to the Group 4 finals before being stopped once more by their nemesis, Bloomfield. After downing Barringer 66-40 and South Side 63-50, the Panthers faced the Bengals. As in the last encounter with their arch-rivals, the Cats took an early lead but lost it in the second quarter. They never regained it as Bloomfield

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

"A sport for every girl and every girl in a sport." With this slogan the Girls' Athletic Association began its $1956-1957$ season by outlining the year's tentative plans. The G.A.A., under the leadership of its president, Barbara Stohrer; vice-president, Gail Kamps; secretary, Ruth Jones; and hostess, Theresa Martino, began the year with an extremely successful field hockey season in which the upperclassmen remained undefeated. While many members played hockey, Monday afternoons found another group swimming at the Y.W.C.A.

Volleyball proved to be of interest to many girls who were given the opportunity to participate in games with several other schools. Climaxing the season was an exciting and enjoyable game between the students and the faculty in which the students earned high score. Christmas found a group of modern dancers performing in the annual Christmas concertan appropriate ending for another year with the G.A.A.

As the holidays came to a close and a new year began, G.A.A. members found themselves faced with a heavy schedule. Tentative plans for the G.A.A.'s highlight of the year, a program entitled "A European Holiday with the G.A.A.", began to take form. This program was presented at a P.T.A. meeting on May 2.

The basketball season began in January and lasted until March. The climax of this season was a faculty versus student game held in the boys' gym, the proceeds of which were given to St. Mary's Orphanage in Newark. The cold days also found a group of girls at the Emerald Bowling Lanes one afternoon a week.

The officials group, under the direction of Miss Filomena Perone, met every Wednesday morning throughout the year, and the girls learned how to officiate at four major sportshockey, basketball, volleyball, and softball.

Badminton, table tennis, tumbling, and softball filled the remaining days of the school year with a great deal of enjoyment for every member.

In June our school year reached its peak, and the G.A.A. awards program took the form of a recreation day, when awards were presented, and the new officers were installed.

To Miss Perone, Miss Perry and Miss Bourgeois, our thanks; to the 1957-58 G.A.A., good luck.

Inter-Club Council

The Inter-Club Council, composed of representatives from every club in East Orange High School and headed by Flora Conte, is responsible for seeing that there is no conflict in the club schedules and for publicizing the clubs. The Council started the year by presenting an auditorium program which introduced and explained the clubs to the student body. Supplementing this program, the Council prepared a Club Directory which listed the members and all the pertinent facts about each club, and a Club Calendar. This year the smooth functioning of all clubs has proved the worth of the In-ter-Club Council.

Service Clubs

One of the most ancient of man's handicrafts as carried on in Room 121.

Performing an indispensable service for our school, the members of the group called Projectionists operate and repair the visual aid equipment used in East Orange High School. Not only do the club members operate projectors, phonographs, and recorders, but they also aid in directing the film and slide sections of our weekly assemblies. An office force of eight students acts as trouble shooters, while other members operate equipment. Supplying operators for service organizations in the city and running equipment at night school and other special functions are but a few of the duties of the Projectionists.

Equally devoted to serving students and teachers are the seventy members of the Li brary Council. Assuming the largest part of the clerical and much of the non-technical work of the school library, the Council aids the librarian in every way possible. With its main purposes being the enlargement of each member's knowledge of the library and their help to others who wish to use it more efficiently, the Council maintains contact with other school library organizations, creates displays, and gives book talks to introduce students to the material at their library.

Volunteering time and effort, the Projectionists and the Library Council accomplish both useful and vital services for their school and for their classmates.
