FOREWORD

We are constantly faced with the passing of time. Each minute, day, and year unveil to us new challenges and concepts which we must learn to overcome and benefit by. The time passed in schooling conditions us to the point that we can firmly face these challenges.

Our theme for the 1962 Syllabus, therefore, is "Time Marches On". From the first day of life at East Orange High School until the last diploma at graduation we are all products of time. If, as the days pass, we refuse to take advantage of our past mistakes and triumphs, they are useless. If, however, we do recognize them as stepping stones in the progress of time, we shall succeed in becoming better persons.

This past year has brought about changes for all, from the arriving freshmen to the departing seniors. We hope that all will take advantage of tribulations and triumphs of the time passed at East Orange High School.

Former student Takako Inoue, who recently transferred from East Orange, shows books to Pat Chapman and Juanita Kinchelow.

DEDICATION

To some one whom we all respect, we wish to dedicate The 1962 Syllabus. Mr. Morgan T. Loesch our principal, has carefully and wisely guided us through the realms of education. He has corrected us when we have gone astray, but always with dignity. He has proudly commended us when we have done well. For all he has done for us, we thank him. It is with kindness, friendliness, and gratitude that we shall always remember Mr. Loesch.

Mr. Loesch advises seniors Donna Nichols and Natalia Udovik.

Our Farewells

We, the class of 1962 and the faculty, wish to say to Miss Ellen Leinonen a fond farewell. We shall never forget the wonderful way in which she expressed her interest in us, and her invaluable advice will serve us in good stead in our future endeavors. When we grow older, we shall remember her as one who guided us to the path of success. Although she has departed from our sight, we shall always remember her in our hearts.

We, the graduating class and the faculty, wish to express our sincere gratitude and thanks to Mr. Theron E. Coffin for the scholastic advice and the friendly thoughts which he has shared with us. We will always remember his ever-present willingness to help us solve our problems. The patience with which he conducted his classes was a vital asset for his students. We will long remember the wonderful experiences he has shared with us. Although he has left us, we know he will continue to be as friendly and as helpful to others as he has been to us.

Best wishes and continued success to you in whatever you may do.

Theron Coffin

BOARD OF EDUCATION

SEATED: John J. Meade, Maurice N. Trainer (Vice-President), William L. Hoffmann (President), Scott Harris, Mrs. Lester Barry. STANDING: Paul V. Moody (Secretary), Robert H. Seitzer (Superintendent), W. George Hayward (Assistant Superintendent), Sheldon O. Smith (Assistant Secretary).

The East Orange Board of Education during the past year has continued to remodel the 1913 building in its effort to provide the most efficient and most modern facilities possible for the students. We all have reason to be grateful to such a conscientious and untiring group of citizens.

Betsy Reid and Onnie Pearson have a pleasant visit with Mr. Seitzer.

ROBERT H. SEITZER, M.S.
Superintendent

The senior class stands on the threshold of a new life; each member must surely be aware of the speed with which time in the space age passes. Surely, those early days of the freshman year are still so vivid that they appear much more recent than they really are. Looking backward, you—as a senior—should be able to evaluate how well you spent the time that is no longer yours. You are now suddenly aware that the time from your entrance as a freshman to the moment of your departure at graduation has mysteriously disappeared. Your experiences in that short time should have, however, made you older, wiser, and better equipped to face the challenge of the years ahead.

From your past experiences with fleeting time, you should be convinced that you must chart your life with the knowledge that you must make each moment count. Each day should propel you one step farther toward your goal, for there is no time to be wasted. A rare and precious commodity, time must be used with wisdom and always to advantage.

As you prepare to march ahead with time, you—like Macbeth—will discover that "Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow, creeps in this petty pace from day to day to the last syllable of recorded time." Do not, however, as Macbeth did, spend your tomorrows unprofitably. Instead, let each day be a new adventure—an adventure rich in living, an adventure crowded with good, an adventure full of promise for tomorrows that will bring you a life of satisfaction and well-earned success.

Morgan T. Loesch

With the quickening pace of each day in this period known as the space age, the old adage "Time Marches On" is more significant than ever.

The speed with which times passes is well known to graduating Seniors who frequently say, "It seems like only yesterday that I entered high school." As we get older, the days, months, and years seem to get shorter.

In the space age, as in all ages since history's beginning, "Lost time is never found again."

Yes, time marches on! And it is our responsibility to make good use of every minute of it.

As we come to the end of our high school careers, we are embarking on the new world of our future. Our past experiences were merely a preparation for what lies ahead. We have great opportunities before us, which, if we will but take advantage of them, will give us a foothold on the ladder to success. We must keep in mind, however, that hard work and perseverance precede success. The future belongs to us, and we alone may make the best of it.

September, 1958—at long last the moment had arrived and we entered East Orange High School. How proud we were that day! Everything was rather confused, but we soon began to get used to our new school.

That year was a wonderful one for our football team. We were undefeated and untied for the first time in many, many years. N. J. Champs! Three cheers for Coach Fuoss!

All of a sudden it was Christmas with the All-School Dance, "Happy Holly Daze", and the Christmas Concert. The concert began with the traditional "At Solemn Midnight" and ended with the stirring "Hodie! Christus Natus Est." It was a real thrill. Then came mid-years and all sorts of frightening tales from upper-classmen. We were very glad to see the end of exams and the beginning of second semester.

Then, in rapid succession, came the Junior Prom, the play John Loves Mary, the Spring Concert climaxed by selections from Rogers and Hammerstein's musical, "South Pacific," final exams, the Senior Prom, and graduation. It was quite a year. Sophomores at last, and no longer "low men on the totem pole!" At first it seemed hard to believe that we were no longer the babies of the school.

The football team didn't do so well during our second year here. The Panthers received their only defeat at the hands of the Montclair Mounties. Boo, Montclair!

Suddenly it was Christmas again with all its festivities. That Christmas concert was the first in which the honor solo, "Oh Holy Night," was sung in French. It was really beautiful. After the holidays, mid-years, the Junior Prom, Mr. and Mrs. North, and the Spring Concert came and went, and suddenly it was June again. Finals and graduation marked the end of our second year at East Orange High School. That year would have ended happily but for the death of our principal, Mr. Redman, one of the finest men anyone could ever know.

Upper-classmen at last!—and in a beautiful new building. Now it was our turn to be haughty with the freshmen and sophomores.

Time flew by until it was our turn to choose princesses for our own Junior Prom. Alice Crute was the lovely queen. It was a very gala occasion, and all had a good time.

The Student-Faculty Show, Best Foot Forward, was a smash hit, featuring members of our own Class of '62. We were proud to be able to participate in such an important school activity.

One of the highlights of the Spring Concert was part of Verdi's "Requiem", sung by the A Cappella Choir. The concert ended, appropriately, with the beautiful "Anthem For Spring."

After the concert came the Senior Prom, finals, and graduation. We were Seniors at last!

It seemed almost unbelievable that our last lap had started. Members of our own class were the of-icers of the Student Council.

Suddenly we realized that our "lasts" had begun. We saw our last Christmas Concert, climaxed by portions of Handel's "Messiah." Our own Diane Blodgett sang the honor solo. The concert was directed by Mr. George M. Gilbert, who was chosen to be the conductor of the 1962 All-State Chorus. Congratulations, Mr. Gilbert. Mrs. Elsie P. Davis accompanied the Chorus. This was her "second time around." Congratulations, Mrs. Davis.

Winter and spring raced by, and with them we saw our last exams (hurrah), Deadwood Dick, and the Spring Concert.

Our Senior Prom was here before we knew it. It was the grand climax to four years of social activities in East Orange High School. Then, that long awaited day—graduation! It marked the end of four wonderful years—years we'll never forget.

And so, to college or business for the Class of '62!

SYLLABUS PROPHECY

As the lights grow dim, a hush falls on the audience, an aura of expectancy permeates the air, and—the stage is set. Slowly the heavy curtain of time rises on the setting of a world of tomorrow.

We enter the laboratories of Doctors Michael Bradford, George Jones, and Anita Irvin; the scene reveals a momentous occasion. In the presence of nurses Dolores Wilson, Jacquie Thomas, and Carmella Squillacioti, and of medical secretary Barbara Snow, the doctors embark on the discovery of a cure for cancer.

A brief transition brings the scene to a Madison Avenue fashion house. Displaying the famed collections of designers Ave Montague and Peggy Jackson are models Alice Crute, Toni Terrell, and Janet Mulcahy. Present among the guests are such noted personalities as hair stylist Jessica Sofman; journalist Lynn Arin, authoress Dawn Fitch, and actuary Linda Greenberger.

At the same time, Wall Street lawyers Millie Martin, Curt Bean, Phil Mascari, and Ronald Moore discuss financial arrangements for a new building project with millionaires Robert Robertson, John Waldron, and Bernard Hennessy. Designated to complete the project are architects Andrew Meravi, Ed Rottner, and Richard Bremer.

Switching to a political campaign in Chicago we see in that setting politician Patrick Pelosi addressing a group of engineers. Among those present are electrical engineers Don Robinson, Alan Heflich, Peter Jansons, Joe Lepore, and Jon Smith. Industrial engineers include Lawrence Parker and Airel Cooper.

At Cape Canaveral, Florida, Lynson Gilstrap, astronaut, makes ready for his first flight to Venus while Doug Mendola and Bill Anderson make last-minute preparations. On hand to witness the send-off, scientists Sheila Walker, John Kingsley, and Airline stewardess Nancy Thiry wait impatiently.

As we continue next to the most important basketball game of the season, the setting displays pro basketball players, Lennie Williams and Morris Turner, leading the Philadelphia Warriors to a winning season. In the world of football, stars George Pearce, Robert Stohrer and Charles Freeman have their names engraved in the Hall of Fame.

Returning to the busy streets of New York City, the camera shows Joan Hrasko, Marianne Sanitti, Mildred Winckler, Sharlene Trice, and Shirley Edwards going to lunch with dashing executives, Howard Cochran, Kenneth Hurdle, Roger Bagnole, Kenneth Batman, and Manuel Pombo. Where are they dining?—at Ruth Spivey's Steak House, of course.

At the same time, East Orange High School instructors Anne Frantantoni, Joseph Collins, Patricia Jones, Anita Wooten, and Donna Nichols analyze "problems of the students" at a faculty meeting with principal Brian Fugere and guidance counselor, Diane Robinson. Present to enlighten the conversation are child psychologists, Amelia Lunsford, Jaci Hayward, and psychiatrists, Cheryl Sims and Beverly Bryant.

Opening at the Metropolitan Opera House, mezzo-soprano Diane Blodgett brings the changing scene to the evening of her opening performance. Foreign diplomat, Natalia Udovik; rated entertainers, Juanita Dunne and Lois Weber, along with society patrons Kathy Baker, Joanne Lordi, Dunstan McCoy, and Robert O'Neill, have come to pay her tributes.

A fanfare of music from Taylor Culver's orchestra signals the climax of the first half of the program, and the curtain must fall for the present on the lives of the '62 graduates.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

This year marks another milestone in the English Department's dynamic program. The department aims to develop the language skills necessary for effective communication and to foster a taste on the part of the public for the great heritage of literature at our fingertips.

Toward these ends, students are presented with a varied fare, including grammar, short stories and novels, drama, and poetry. In special classes, such as Journalism and Modern Literature, more advanced studies of writing skills and literary appreciation are undertaken.

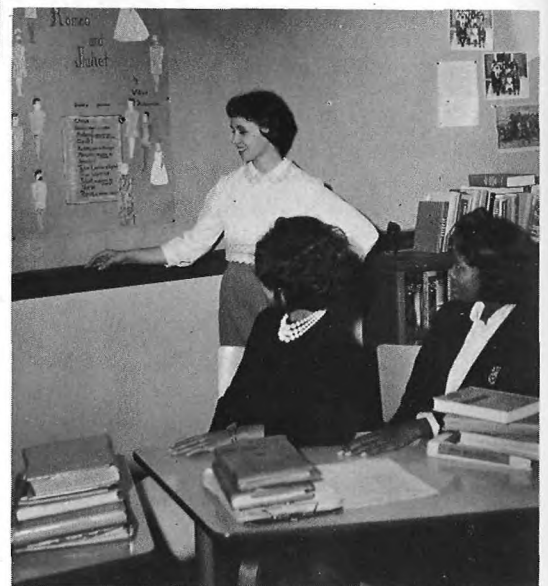

Under Mr. Blodgett's able guidance, the English Department is ready to help students properly use and understand the English language.

"Yes, the verb goes there." Mr. Dinich watches as Kathy Vreeland diagrams a sentence on the board.

"What on earth does that mean?" Ronald Moore examines his vocabulary list as George Pearce waits for Mr. Blodgett to dictate the next word.

"What light through yonder window breaks. . . ." Mrs. Cohen smiles approvingly at Larry Flamholtz's poster of Romeo and Juliet while Shirley Smith and Rosemary Jefferson look on.

"I know that article about Hemingway is here someplace." Ronald Moore and Janet Rosen leaf through current magazines in preparation for Mrs. Geimer's Modern Literature class.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

"Voila Noel a la Francais." Mrs. Vaala explains Christmas customs in France to her class.

"Si, L' Italia ha la forma d' un stivale." Mr. Ferrotti laughs with his class as they prepare to study geography—of Italy, of course!

"Il cibo migliore e' il cibo italiano." Mr. DeMarzo points with pride to the bulletin board display of fine Italian foods as Stephanie Michael admires the work done by his students.

"El toro es muy necesario en una corrida de toros." Mrs. Paige gives her Spanish class an idea of how things are done in Spanish speaking countries.

"Las Islas Canarias son Las Perlas del Pacifico." Mr. Wharton tells his Spanish class students some of the advantages of knowing a language when one travels to other parts of the world.

"Lege in Latina nunci!" Miss Rogasis tries to teach something to Larry Flamholtz and Emil DeVito, but they don't seem to absorb the Latin, much less the English.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

"Yes, this cone does look very much like a dunce cap." Jeanette Raiford holds up a conical figure for Mr. LePori's geometry class.

The aims and objectives of the Mathematics Department are to produce logical thinking, to give a fundamental understanding of numbers and numerical systems, and to promote a general knowledge of the fundamental algebraic and geometric processes. The courses offered by the department are algebra, plane geometry, general mathematics, trigonometry, and solid geometry.

This year preparations are being made for a new mathematics major, calculus with analytical geometry, which will be taught by Mr. LePori, the head of the Mathematics Department. This will be a college level course, good for 8 credits and meeting 10 times a week. This course will offer one year of college credit for all who complete it satisfactorily.

"... 63 take away 76 carry 4 ... " Bill Sweeney and Marvin Gantt ponder the problems of mathematics in Mr. Brennan's Algebra II class.

"... Let's see; 4% of 250 at a semi-annual rate is ... " As Mr. Carr watches, four students in his general mathematics class work out some homework problems.

"Everybody knows the formula for a hyperbolic paraboloid, no?" Mr. Montgomery tries to explain the principles of geometry to his interested class.

"Let's see, plus 8 and minus 3, no, the opposite . . ." Dr. Risinger's students seem bewildered by these algebraic equations.

"If x is equal to 3, then obviously 2x is obviously equal to what?" Charles Green, William Cochran, Judy Hein, and Gail Herrington seem pleased that Mr. Knoblauch is so good at explaining difficult problems.

"No,  $H_2O$  is not hydrochloric acid, it's water!" Mrs. Chesley shows her class how to weigh water on a scale—in a glass of course!

"Is it really that big?" Alvin Davis seems frightened, but Mr. Robertshaw points out that this mosquito is magnified quite a bit.

"Watch out! It's bright enough to blind you!" Mr. DeSantis shows what happens when magnesium burns. Watching are Mildred Winckler, Pettigrew Robertson, Phillip Malia, Richard Evans, Nancy Dorsey and Pat Hayes.

The science department, under the able direction of Mr. Hahn, strives to keep up with the varying educational needs of its students. Moreover, new and well-equipped classrooms, as well as a well-trained faculty, meet all special student interests. Participation in field activities are directed toward encouraging able students to make science their career. With the new dimension of a seven-period school day, double periods of biology, chemistry, and physics will soon offer science to more students who, in past years, have been unable to take advantage of these opportunities.

DEPARTMENT

"Ooh, a rotten egg!" Mr. Briscoe looks at the experiment with puzzlement while Kathy Baker and Bob Storher smell something fishy—or eggly!

"No, we are not getting ready to pole vault!" Mrs. Nesselroth sets up apparatus for a physics experiment and gets plenty of help from Frank Pendorf and Mike Ram.

"It erupts every day at 2:50." Mr. Hahn jokingly explains the workings of the inside of a volcano to Carol Dingle and Tom Saccone.

SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT

To help students obtain an appreciation and understanding of the principles of American Democracy is the main purpose of the Department of Social Studies. By carrying out this idea, the social studies teachers hope to create a genuine desire on the part of students in becoming active in their community, state, and nation.

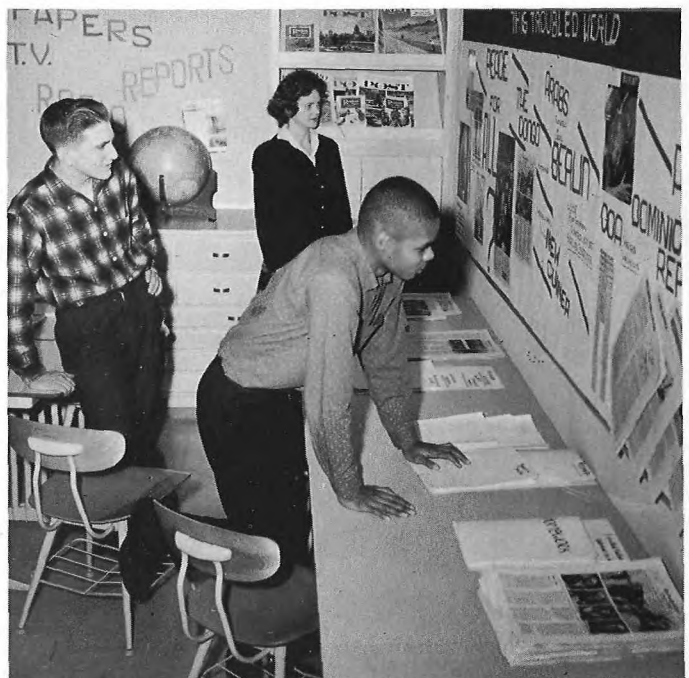

This year the members of the department set up two projects for themselves. One was to devise a new type of civics class which would include more information concerning geography, and the second was to revise the courses in world history, thereby bringing them up to date. By dynamic changes such as these, as well as through numerous activities, the department helps students to realize their place in the world as individuals.

"No, that isn't Barcelona, Spain." Miss Visocky gives a geography lesson to one of her classes.

"... And King's is selling Chock Full O' Nuts for 57 cents a can." Mr. McKown reads the latest news to one of his history classes.

"What was that they said about this being our world?" Alan Heflich seems troubled as he tries to understand the problems the world must face today, as Betsy Reid and Donald Robinson also think about the things they see on Miss Lindsay's bulletin board.

"Look out, General Grant! You're standing in front of that cannon!" Mr. Veal recreates one of the battles of the Civil War right in Room 274. Joe Hartley points to General Grant as Charles Titus and Richard DeVose look on.

"So don't forget your term papers . . ." Miss Middleton threatens one of her classes with the guillotine if her pupils don't obey the rules.

"Now let's see if you can find Lower Besserabia." Mr. Robinson sends three students on a global tour of the world. Joyce Pally, James Frazier, and Albert Matuella listen attentively.

BUSINESS EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Mr. Cumens makes sure that Carolyn Gonzalez, Marty Lepore, Ellen Smith, and Beverly Watkins have equal debits and credits.

Mr. Hand checks the work of C. Mancuso and J. Wild as they type from recordings.

The Department of Business Education has the momentous job of turning out students qualified to help to do the many necessary phases of business and industry. Typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, accounting, and business law are just a few of the many subjects offered.

Mr. Hand, highly capable head of the Business Education Department, is particularly pleased that the business staff is able to offer courses such as personal typing to students in other patterns. A highly qualified faculty, trained in the latest business techniques, and modern equipment are thereby used for the good of any East Orange student who cares to take advantage of them.

"Someday you'll be doing this." Mr. Sliker explains income tax to Francine Watson, who is an attentive listener.

"Dear Sir: It has been brought to my attention . . ." Miss Freeman dictates to her shorthand students so they may become experienced in using what they have learned.

"Clickity-clackity-clickity-clack". The students in Mrs. Oakley's class learn that, as in every skill, practice makes perfect in personal typing.

"Yes, that's right; move this carriage over, push this down, and then . . ." Miss Karns helps her advanced typing students to master the machines they use.

SPEECH DEPARTMENT

To develop poise and ease in speaking both in and out of the classroom is one of the chief objectives of the Speech Department. Mr. Mohn, talented head of the department, is assisted by Miss Lindsay. Besides offering courses in speech, play production, and public speaking, the department does a remarkable job in producing, each year, a one-act play plus a three-act student-faculty play.

Sharon Hawkins gets ready to sum up her oral report for public speaking.

Ken Weber doesn't seem to want to give up his package to June Marino in this scene from the play given by the speech class.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

This year, under the direction of the new All-State Director, Mr. Gilbert, the Music Department was host to the 14th Annual New Jersey State Opera. The band, conducted by Mr. Berggren, represented E.O.H.S. in the Festival of Performing Arts. In a new music appreciation course, both vocal and instrumental departments plan to combine next year.

VOCAL ENSEMBLE

SEATED AT PIANO: D. Blodgett, N. Thiry.
STANDING: P. Smith, P. Capista, B. Hopkins,
D. Hobbs, D. Walker, A. Lunsford, A. Irvin,
B. Reed, J. Lordi, S. Miles.

Mr. Berggren improvises as Marvin Gantt, Gabriel Petrocelli, and Albert Antaki watch.

DANCE BAND

FIRST ROW: Mr. Berggren, J. Young, W. Blakely, T. Culver, L. Gilstrap, M. Gantt. SECOND ROW: A. Prince, R. Jones, S. Lowry, G. Petrozzelli, C. Whaley, D. Branch, A. Antaki. THIRD ROW: D. Robinson, S. Coppin, J. Ross.

Mr. Gilbert leads his A Cappella Choir through a particularly difficult passage.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

To teach boys about making a living in industry, the Industrial Arts Department presents a wide and varied program. Included in the curriculum are general, machine, and graphic arts shops along with a mechanical drawing course. In well-equipped classes, the boys gain a knowledge of modern day technology. Next year members of the department are preparing to offer industrial arts courses as major subjects.

While Victor Alfieri and Charles Harris work on their woodshop projects in the background, Mr. Rubrecht and Gerald Bentley utilize the folding ruler.

HOME ECONOMICS

This past year, as always, the Home Economics program has projected an informal, homelike atmosphere for its students with the help of other departments in the school. The purpose of the Department of Home Economics is to enrich the total school curriculum with learning experiences focused on managerial, manipulative, and personal aspects of family living.

Diane Dandolf learns that pressing follows each step in sewing.

ART DEPARTMENT

Ken Barnes sculptures salt rock in Miss Upham's class.

Cabinet arrangements, hall and classroom bulletin board displays, and the colorful green, white, and gold Christmas decore were all a part of the Art Department's program for this year. Supervised by Miss Dorothy A. Upham, with the assistance of Miss Marylyn Michael, the Department has also been involved in an art integration program where art is also introduced into other classes.

Miss Michael admires the work of Vance Taylor as Nicholas Carvagno places his drawing on the wall.

BOYS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The objective of the Boys' Physical Education Department this year are to build strong, sound bodies, to maintain physical and mental health, and to promote good sportsmanship. Under the direction of Mr. Welsh, this department is carrying on with its plans to revise and improve its varied program.

A group of underclassmen does a series of exercises to limber up muscles and fibers.

Mary Jean Mezzo, Audrey Bunch, and Carol Brown listen as Mr. Lewis explains what happens after the key is turned on.

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Teachers in the Girls' Physical Education Department aim to assist girls in obtaining physical fitness. Each year the members also try to offer sports which upperclass girls may pursue as hobbies in their own lives. Some of these sports offered are tennis, badminton, and bowling. To provide more variety in the program, archery has lately been introduced, so that there will probably be many girl "Robin Hoods" graduating from E.O.H.S.

Shoes! Both boys and girls leave much behind when they finish with "our studies."

During Thomas Dean's second year as coach, the Panthers once again had a winning season. It did not take Mr. Dean long to show East Orange how to play his kind of football. A two-year record of 14-3-1 bears out the virtues of his system.

Mr. Dean thinks that this is one of the most cohesive squads he has ever coached. Facts that confirm this opinion are that there were many times when the team made goal line stands and that in a total of five games they came from behind to overcome the opposing forces. There seemed to be more respect among the players on this year's team than among those on past teams.

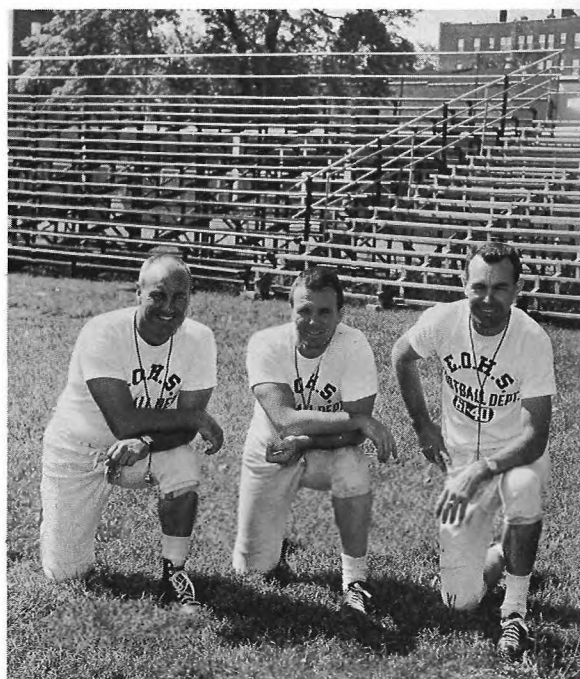

Acknowledging the fact that East Orange had the toughest schedule in the entire state, Mr. Dean says the players did a very commendable job in compiling a 7-1-1 record. He feels that this was a team of direction, contributing quite a lot in moments when it mattered most.

The system of football which Mr. Dean brought to E. O. two years ago follows a systematic pattern. On the Freshman team, which plays an independent schedule and is coached by Mr. Patton and Mr. Tighe, the incoming frosh are taught the basic fundamentals of football. On the reserve squad, coached by Mr. Wilson, the boys are taught more complicated skills and prepared for varsity duty. This reserve squad is composed mostly of sophomores. During the season it is possible for a junior to advance to the varsity, but the chances for a sophomore are slim unless he is very outstanding. When a player reaches the final stage, varsity, he is coached by Mr. Dean himself. Since the player now has a very good background in fundamentals, it is easier for him to adjust to varsity competition.

Certainly we will remember the leadership of our captains, George Pearce and Richard Carsillo, as well as the playing of Bob Stohrer and the like. Though we are losing 12 players this year, there are 44 juniors and seniors coming back next year to form the nucleus of another great team.

SOCCER

Ending an 18-game losing streak on October 6, 1961, by defeating Livingston, the soccer team proved that only hard work brings success. The Panthers followed this first victory with another one two weeks later over Barringer. Since the squad contains only two seniors, Peter Jansons and Alex Broadfoot (one of the top scorers), the soccer team should come of age next year with the help of a number of foreign students as well as that of the experienced men of the present squad. If Henry Benson, Angelo Pompeo, Zafaris Tsimahidou, and Conrad Webley line up to Mr. McGuckin's expectations, the soccer team should have a successful season next year.

CROSS COUNTRY

The Cross Country team this season compiled its best record in recent years. The team was victorious in 12 out of 17 meets, a vast improvement over the record for last year. Though it was a young team, it showed plenty of spirit and determination. James Scrimmager, the number one runner on the team, took a first in the Essex County. His individual record for the season was a commendable 15-2. Reggie Henry, the team's second runner, took an eighth place in this meet. Doug Herig, Walter Jones, Paul Saunders, and Paul Keating have all shown the possibility of becoming competent runners. Since Raymond Buckman is the only senior Mr. Wharton has on his squad, and all the others have had previous training, they should prove hard to beat next year.

BASKETBALL

Lenny Williams, Morris Turner, Charlie Jackson, George Pearce, and Richard Carsillo led the Panthers' basketball team to a final record of 16 wins, 1 tie, 5 losses. Under the able direction of Mr. Frank Milner and Mr. George Swoyer, the team started off with a seven-game winning streak that ended in the finals of the Christmas Tournament. There they lost to St. Benedict's by a score of 43-44.

The Panthers bounded back, however, with a 58-44 win over Irvington. The team then went on to a final season score of 16 wins.

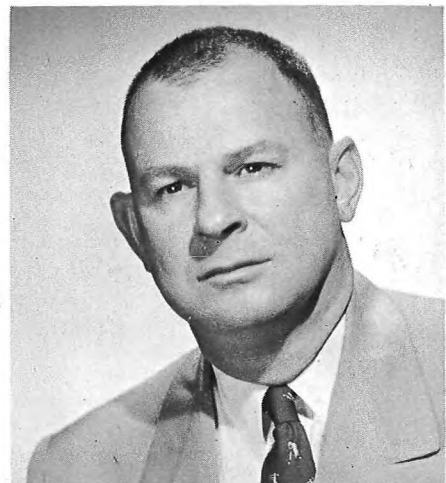

Lenny Williams was the leading scorer on the squad and its main rebounder. Often his timely points and valuable rebounds decided a game. Richard Carsillo was the team's sparkplug and playmaker. He was the cohesive force on the team. Charles Jackson was second in rebounds and was a tenacious defense man. Charlie always drew the other team's top scorer. Morris Turner, who took over the role of playmaker when Richie was resting, greatly improved during the latter part of the season. Though he wasn't the leading scorer, he did play steady ball all season. George Pearce, who, along with Richie and Lennie, had started on the varsity for the past two seasons, made his presence felt under the boards and could always be counted on for that clutch basket.

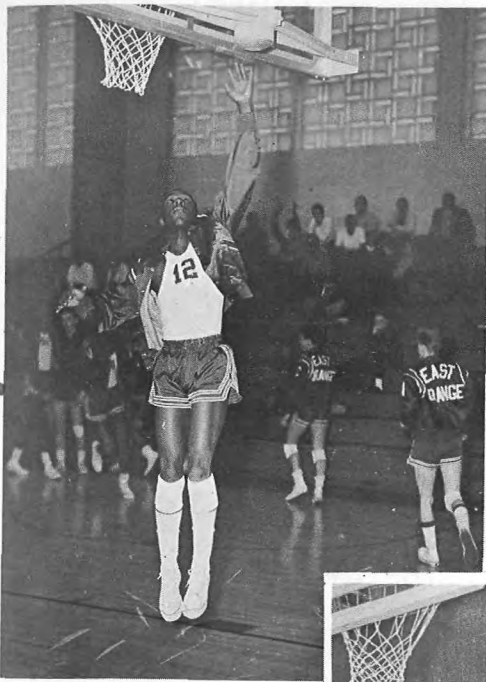

Mr. Swoyer feels that this year he has a strong junior varsity team which will add a lot of height to the 1962-1963 varsity. Aided by the combined efforts of William Raye, who gained much experience this season, and Thomas Jackson and Robert Curry, East Orange should see a team just as able as this year's. Unfortunately all of our starters are graduating in June.

Two things that should be mentioned are these: that at times school spirit was lacking, and it is hard for any team to play its best without student backing, no matter how good its record; and that credit should be given to Mr. Frank Milner for achieving over 200 wins in his coaching career although he and the team very frequently lacked student support.

TRACK 1961

Under the direction of Mr. Charles Brennan, the 1961 track team captured third place in Group IV competition. Among the highlights of the season was the record-breaking mile by co-captain Willie Moore. At the Newark Invitational Meet, Moore ran a 4:33, breaking the previous record of 4:37.

Another of the co-captains, Leonard Kolm, earned equal fame in the shotput. The third co-captain, Earl West, consistently placed high in his specialty, the hurdles.

Coach Brennan expects this year to be an even greater one for the team. One of the main weaknesses of last season's squad, sprinting, will be corrected with the addition of many promising sophomore runners.

ICE HOCKEY

East Orange High School entered the New Jersey Scholastic Hockey League this year under the capable guidance of Coach Gilbert Adams. This was the Panthers' first venture into the field of varsity hockey, although they had played a junior varsity schedule for the preceding two years.

Few new candidates came out this year, partially because practices had to be held early in the morning. Although the team didn't win any games, it improved steadily over the season.

The future looks bright for next year, however, because Curt Bean is the only starting player who is graduating. With the return of such players as James Kanzenbach, Donald Critchett, and Michael Ram, the coming season looks very promising, especially since most of the first and second lines of the competing teams are graduating this year.

BASEBALL 1961

"All right, right here over the plate!"

This year's baseball team, led by Co-Captains Richard Bender and Harold Johnson, though stripped of starters from last year's outstanding nine, still came through with a splendid season of 11 wins and 10 losses. This was the third winning season in a row for the Panthers, who have now won 29 of the last 47 contests. In this they were aided by George Pearce, Harold Johnson, and Richard Carsillo, the only returning lettermen from the 1960 State Championship Team.

George Pearce was the leading hitter with a .333 batting average. He was followed by Charles Turner, .295, and Harold Johnson, .287. Pearce also led in R.B.I.'s with 21. Johnson, the No. 1 pitcher, pitched 90 innings, compiling a 7 and 4 record with a 2.34 earned run average. Johnson's career mark shows 14 wins and 6 losses.

Though the team was inexperienced, it developed in time to be considered one of the county's best. For example, George Pearce was commended for his playing by being chosen for the first team All-County and third team All-State. For the first time in 21 years East Orange was selected to play in the Greater Newark Tournament, losing to Linden, the finalists, in the opening round.

With this year's experience behind them, the Red and Blue should have a strong team next season although pitching may be a question mark. All in all, 1962 should prove interesting for the East Orange Nine and for Coaches Von Stetten and Cummins.

TENNIS 1961

Coach Donald Robertshaw, in his second year as tennis mentor, almost had his team pull the biggest upset in State Tournament history. However, top-seeded Ridgewood eliminated East Orange in the third round by a slim margin of 2-1.

East Orange crushed Morris Hills in the first round, and beat Moorestown in the second round. However, Ridgewood proved to be a little too much for the Red and Blue to handle.

Since there are only two returning lettermen, Steve Fuchs and Sal Meola, the tennis future looks bleak unless some new talent comes along.

To offer an intramural program for girls is the purpose of the Girls' Athletic Association. Available for the girls of East Orange High is a wide variety of activities including volleyball, basketball, swimming, and badminton. In addition, in the group activities such as volleyball and basketball, playdays are carried on with other schools.

Some of the special events sponsored by the G. A. A. are freshman orientation, the student-faculty game, and the banquet and picnic that climax the year. Also for the past two years the G. A. A. has undertaken fund-raising projects to secure money for trophies for the two outstanding girls in the association.

With the aid of the Girls' Physical Education Department and the officers—President Patricia Holt, Vice-president Gail Jones, Secretary Doris Walker, and Hostess Jennifer Brown—the G. A. A. had a very successful year.

Under the able assistance of Mr. Adams, and with the help of our willing officers, Pat Pelosi, president; Janet Mulcahy, vice-president; Mary Lou McCulloch, recording secretary; Anita Irvin, corresponding secretary, and Margaret Ohme, treasurer, the 1962 Student Council year has been a successful one.

We at East Orange should be proud of the work the officers have done to make our school meet the high standards set by the New Jersey Association of High School Councils. These standards have enabled us to achieve the title of Honor School. Congratulations are in order for all!

Two new innovations headed the Council's list of accomplishments for this year. The first was the much-used fruit vending machine. This machine enables students to purchase fresh fruit each day. The second new addition was the pencil and paper machine. A great help to many people, it contains not only paper and pencils, but also pens and notebooks.

New clubs formed this year under the jurisdiction of the Student Council were the Art Forum, the Debating Club, and the Latin Club. In future years these clubs should prove interesting and exciting for all.

Summed up, the year has been one of many changes and accomplishments, none of which could have been possible without the cooperation and help of you, the student body.

The NEWS

"From the people, by the people, for the people"

Some of the most hectic days of the school week are the copy days for The News. Each Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of copy week there is a mad rush to get the paper ready for the printer. On Thursday the production is halted and the paper sent out.

Diane Robinson, Anne Frantantoni, Pat Jones, Lynn Arin, and Kathy Baker are largely responsible for our widely recognized school paper, which ranks among the top three in the state. Acting in the official capacity of editors, the girls find and assign stories, along with the time-consuming job of planning and proofing pages. The light is often seen shining late at night in the window of The News office. Here the busy tyros are running around getting cokes for the even busier staff members.

Getting all of the news to the students is the main aim of the paper. It skillfully handled such news as the recent ice hockey games and the State Opera Festival. Nothing of interest to those of us at East Orange High School escapes the watchful eyes of the reporters.

One of the lighter moments of the year was the surprise birthday party held in honor of Mr. Krueger, the paper's sponsor. This party was a welcomed interruption in the daily routine of The News.

The paper, which comes to us on alternate Fridays, is a true credit to Mr. Krueger, Dr. Risinger (business sponsor), and all those students connected with its publication.

GIRLS' STUDY HALL COUNCIL

GIRLS' STUDY HALL OFFICERS
FIRST ROW: L. Albanese, Secretary. SEC-OND ROW: J. Lordi, V. President. THIRD
ROW: J. Dunne, President.

"Studies serve for delight, for ornament, and for ability."

We at E. O. H.S. should feel proud that we are one of the few schools in which the girls of the student body conduct their own study halls. Whenever necessary, meetings are held to discuss questions of policy and of future aims. The Council is run under the guidance of Mr. Harold Smith and the able leadership of its officers: Juanita Dunne, president; Joanne Lordi, vice-president; and Libby Albanese, secretary.

Members of the Council come from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. Strict membership and citizenship requirements must be met before a girl can become a member.

This is the forty-first successful year for the Girls' Study Hall Council in East Orange High School.

CANDYSTRIPE

With the aid of Miss Ruth Lindsay, the Candystripers have succeeded in giving another year of volunteer hours to East Orange General Hospital. Among their many duties the girls fix trays, deliver flowers, and add a general touch of cheerfulness to the hospital wards. In return they receive the thankful smiles of the patients and the personal satisfaction of a job well done.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

Under the capable guidance of Mrs. Koch, the Junior Red Cross has completed another successful year. The collection this year, as in previous years, will be given to help the less fortunate. For some years now the money contributed by the students has gone to the Kessler Institute in West Orange to purchase something special for the handicapped boys and girls, such as a new type of wheelchair or additional books.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society has once again devoted much of its time to the tutoring of willing students. Likewise, the Orange Valley Settlement House helpers have spent their time amusing and teaching children. Together these clubs have worked for the good of people both in school and in the community and have earned the respect of all.

ORANGE SETTLEMENT HOUSE

OUR CLUBS

LANGUAGE CLUBS . . .

The language clubs of East Orange now have a better opportunity to put foreign languages into use around the school because of the increase of foreign students. Besides classroom learning there is also learning through friendly conversations. This is very helpful to the language students and it makes our foreign students feel more at home.

Los Cervantinos, directed by Mrs. Paige, has a new outlook on learning. At the meetings the students have learned more about the Spanish speaking countries and their inhabitants from speeches given by Ester Claijo of Colombia and Ana Lizardi of Venezuela. The Christmas Party, the most exciting fiesta of the year, was later followed by the students' preparing Spanish dishes in the Home Economics Department kitchens, and a party for which a small group dined at a Spanish restaurant. Also, the club took a trip to see the motion picture El Cid, who is an epic hero of the 12th century and a symbol of knighthood and chivalry.

Le Cercle Francais, sponsored by Mrs. Robinson, had a wonderful Christmas Party, and later in the year presented a puppet show which included two all-French plays. The door prize of the latter was won by Judith Delaney. There was a large and interested attendance at both functions. Anyone who wasn't present missed a real treat.

Circolo Italiano, under the guidance of Mr. Ferrotti, has become a service to the community as well as to the school. The goal of the club is to help others as well as its members. Members sold refreshments at all basketball games. The proceeds realized, as usual, have been sent to "Boys Town", a non-sectarian orphanage home in Italy. The field trip was to Mencci-Garibaldi Museum. The former is the inventor of the telephone (although he had no money to develop it), and the latter is the Liberator and is responsible for the unification of Italy. Also, members of the club decorated the trophy showcase by displaying hand-made Italian articles.

LOS CERVANTINOS

SCIENCE CLUBS . . .

The Science Department has had (as it was promised) much success with the modern equipment in the new laboratories. The students have acquired a new outlook about science and have taken "One experiment is worth a thousand arguments" as their new motto.

The Astronomy Club, under the direction of Mr. Hahn, had a thrilling and prosperous year. Jim Pendorf, the president, gave lectures to basic science classes on astronomy and the uses of the telescope. Several experiments were made in order to take pictures of the sun and stars. Later activities included the building of a reflecting telescope. (Unfortunately the club failed to organize in time to have a group picture taken for this year's book.)

The Biology Club, with Mrs. Colby as director, had the opportunity of having outside biological scientists and college students present at its meetings. One scientist was from the Agricultural Department of Rutgers University in New Brunswick. The students were from the same college. The field trip provided a tour of the Ciba Pharmaceutical Plant of Summit, New Jersey.

The purpose of the Chemistry Club, led by Mr. Briscoe, is to take trips outside of school to see how chemistry is used in factories, hospitals, water purifying plants, and similar places; and to do experiments in the meetings that ordinarily would not be done in class during school time. The Club has enjoyed many scientific demonstrations performed by Mr. Briscoe, and has had the pleasure of joint meetings with chemistry clubs of other schools.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

The Juniors prepare to take the final step into the future. They will walk on the wings of tomorrow and turn from the days gone by, looking always to the land of promise in the coming year.

This year has been one of work and one of fun, too. The piece de resistance, topping this year, was the Junior Prom. Swinging into the last year with hopeful decisions and memories of the past, the Class of 1963 will be remembered in the history of East Orange High School.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS

We, the members of the Sophomore Class, shall be at the halfway mark when school closes in June. We still have opportunity to continue our good work of the first two years or to repair the damage caused by work too hastily done or not done at all. Two months of vacation that look so long on the calendar will pass quickly. Then in September, with firm resolves to show a better record, we shall become upper classmen, and, if we have more privileges, we must also assume more responsibilities.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

Do you know how it feels to be the lowliest of the low? For all of this school year that is what we freshmen have been. Fortunately the passage of time has changed that situation; in September we shall be able to boss and direct the little freshmen.

When school reopens, we shall take a careful look at our work as freshmen and note where improvement is needed, so that we may look with pride at our achievements when June of 1965 shall have brought us to our graduation.
