FOREWORD

The clatter of feet as classes change, the soft scratch of chalk upon blackboards, the weary hours spent for homework, the heart-warming thrill of accomplishment—through 4 years of East Orange High School we have become fused with the sights, sounds, traditions, and challenges of our school—and now we must go. It will not be easy, for we must adjust to a new and unfamiliar environment. We will have to give up ties, break old bonds with East Orange High School, and set out upon new paths of adventure and conquest.

We came here as children, inexperienced and naive, and now as we prepare to leave, we know that our triumphs at E.O.H.S. will stand us in good stead before that infinitely varied and challenging complexity known as Life. It is with these thoughts in mind that we, the 1963 SYLLABUS board, have chosen "Building Blocks" as the theme of this year's monument to the Class of 1963.

TRIBUTE

MR. SCOTT HARRIS

We, the students of East Orange High School, wish to pay tribute to Mr. Scott Harris, guiding influence for E.O.H.S. and outstanding and still very active member of the Board of Education. For fifty years Mr. Harris has been associated with our school and continually during this time has labored tirelessly on behalf of the student body.

A Cornell graduate, Mr. Harris has an I.L.D. degree from Panzer College. He is a C.P.A., and belongs to the Conference of Actuaries. He is now the Executive Vice-President of Joseph Froggatt & Company, Inc., a national accounting firm with headquarters in New York City.

A lifelong servant to the public, Mr. Harris also lends his services to Theta Ki Fraternity, the East Orange Masonic Order, Sons of the American Revolution, and the American Legion. Mr. Harris is a devout member of the Arlington Avenue Presbyterian Church. He lives at 75 Prospect Street, East Orange.

Mr. Seitzer expressed the feeling of the student body when he stated, "Mr. Harris is an outstanding and valued Board member whose first thought is of the boys and girls in the school system."

BOARD OF EDUCATION

SEATED: John J. Meade, Maurice N. Trainer, Vice-President; William L. Hoffman, President; Scott Harris, Mrs. Lester Barry. STANDING: Paul V. Moody, Secretary; Robert H. Seitzer, Superintendent; W. George Hayward, Assistant Superintendent; Sheldon O. Smith, Assistant Secretary.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

ROBERT H. SEITZER, Superintendent of Schools

Each of us had our share of fun as children building homes, castles, and other buildings with a set of blocks. This we frequently did without any particular plan — we just added and added until the structure toppled, and that was that.

The building blocks of life are not quite as easily handled and cannot be put together without a plan. We soon learn that each block has a place; we must add each block with a purpose so that our structure will not topple.

When you complete high school, the foundation of your structure is finished, many of the blocks above the foundation are also in place. It is my hope that you will continue building successfully and creatively for many years.

ROBERT H. SEITZER

PRINCIPAL

MORGAN T. LOESCH, Principal

Long ago as children you learned, while constructing dream castles with wooden blocks, that a towering superstructure of blocks swayed and ultimately collapsed whenever the foundation was inadequate. Eventually you discovered through experience that a firm foundation is vital to the security of the rest of the construction.

While you are still planning and building your life toward the goals you have set for yourself, you must recognize the importance of creating similar firm foundations. Your parents and your teachers have tried to provide you with the kind of educational foundation which should enable you to continue to build—block upon block—as you enter a new phase of construction after your graduation from East Orange High School.

As both architect and master builder, you should select each new block of living carefully and place it wisely on the educational base you have already established. Some day in the distant future you will be able to view with deep satisfaction the results of the years of continuous building.

MORGAN T. LOESCH

FAREWELL

MISS BRAGG

Last year, as the doors of East Orange High School closed for the summer, we lost an excellent English teacher and most wonderful person. Miss Marion K. Bragg had enriched our school with her warm sense of humor and continual interest in her students, even after they graduated. Besides teaching corrective reading classes and classes in English, Miss Bragg was an amateur artist and a brilliant gourmet. Teaching students how to study and how to budget their time wisely was another of the many projects which she carried out so well. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Miss Bragg loved traveling and found pleasure in sharing her adventures with her classes and her friends. For 35 years Miss Bragg taught at E.O.H.S. and served as the editorial head of the SYLLABUS for 30 years.

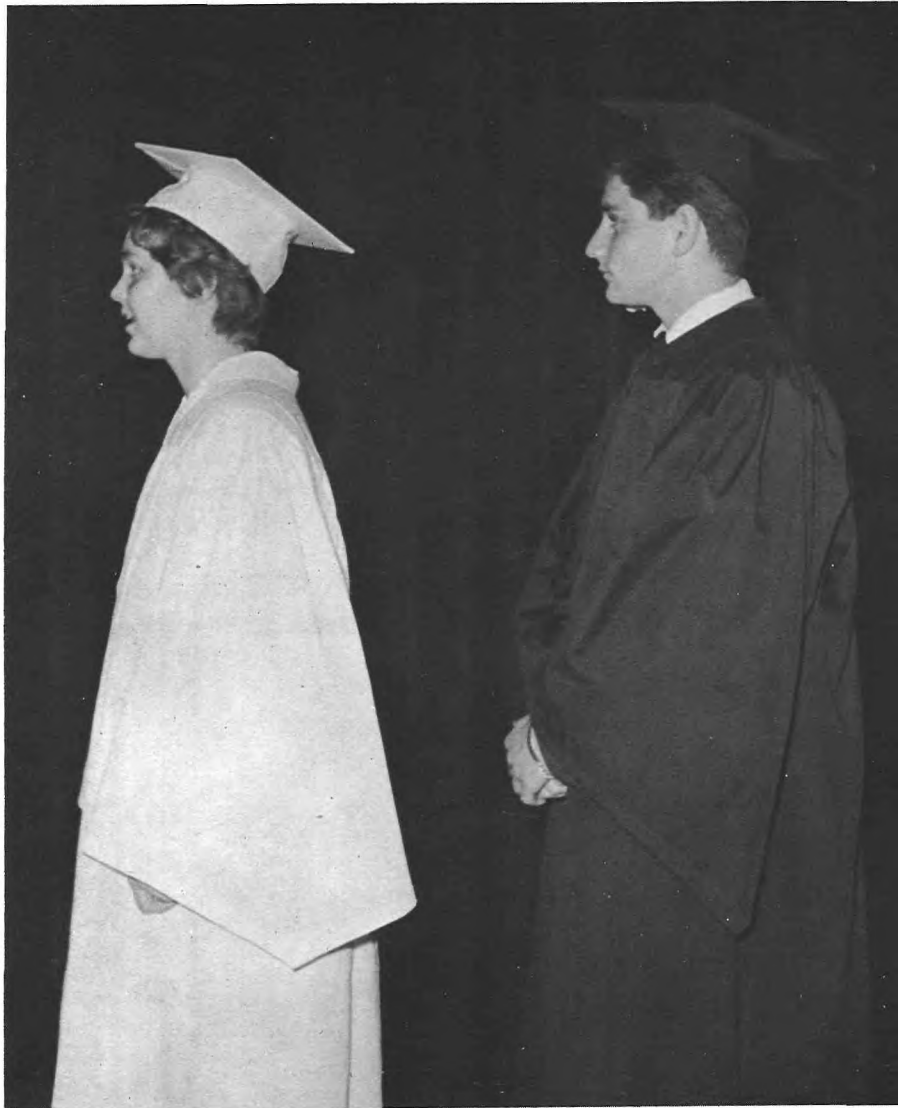

MR. RONALD BRISCOE

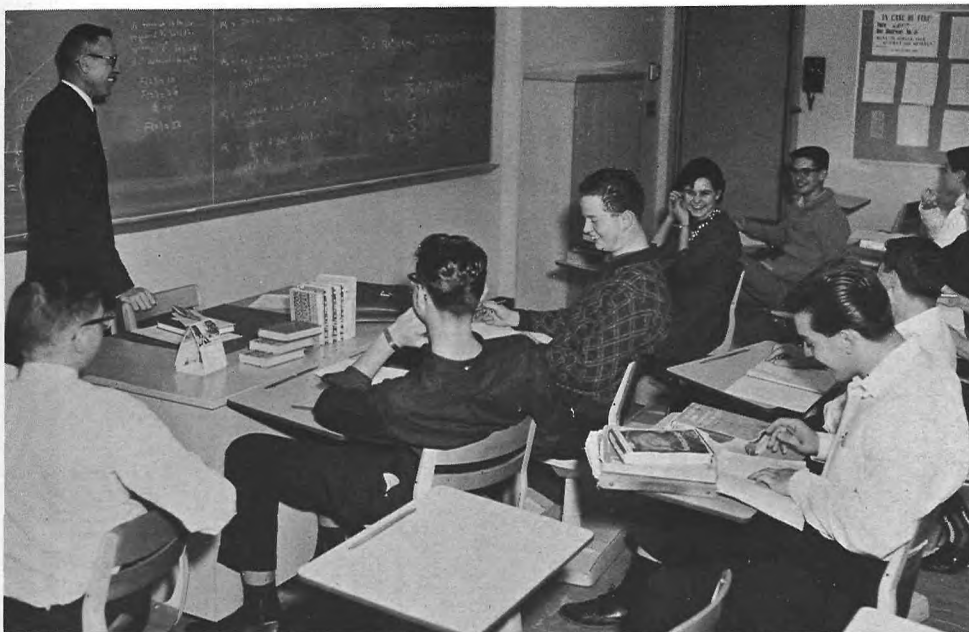

As the year draws to a close we, the students of E.O.H.S., realize that we will lose a teacher admired by us all. Mr. Ronald Briscoe not only taught chemistry, but moreover he taught us wholesome rules by which to live. His unselfish interest, and continual effort to teach us all right from wrong, shall never be forgotten.

We, the members of the Senior Class, are very grateful to have been able to share four years of his life with him.

His provocative and thorough way of teaching has made the science of chemicals come alive. For the past 29 years he has given his all to E.O.H.S. and his students.

The English Department, growing with our school population, this year numbers eighteen staff members, including Mr. Malcom H. Blodgett, Department Head, and one teacher who divides his time between English and speech. In over 70 classes per day, students receive instruction leading to the development of individual proficiency in language skills; they apply these skills in oral response and in class discussion, and in frequent varied writing assignments.

During the year, students study also a wide range of literature, contemporary and past, that provides insight into the great store of wisdom, artistry, and joy that is available in such abundance as to last a lifetime. Independent reading, films, slides, and records enlarge the students' literary experience.

Two electives, journalism and modern literature, offer specialized study for those of appropriate interests and abilities. ECHOES, a department anthology now in its first full year, provides the permanence of print for selected student writings.

We believe that a knowledge of a foreign language is vital to present day life. We believe in teaching the language, literature, and the life of the people "foreign" to us.

Our objectives are: "The Four Fold Aims" of understanding, speaking, reading, and writing. We spend a large part of each period in the foreign language, gradually building up power to converse on the lesson assigned and on everyday topics. For our oral-aural approach to the language we consider many practices to be effective.

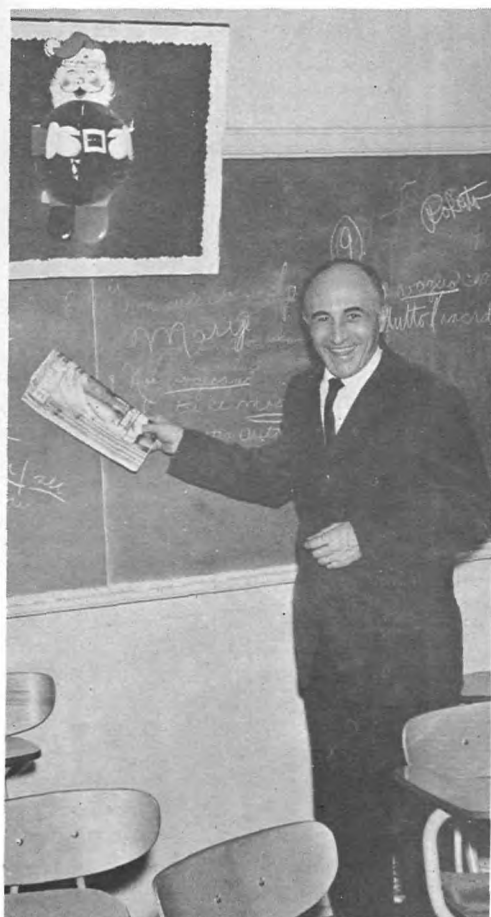

In the past year we have brought to classes foreign newspapers, magazines, popular songs and have discussed them in that language. We have used the radio, and the school television set. Records such as French, Spanish, Italian, "Circling the Globe" etc. were also played. Serious students were permitted to take these "Realia" materials home for week-end study. Many classes used tapes as a preview for a foreign language laboratory which is now being planned.

German was introduced this year to our foreign language course. The course had a full enrollment and the students' reaction to the course was one of enthusiasm. Our foreign language clubs were especially active with diverse and original programs.

The primary goal of the mathematics department is to make every student a competent user of mathematics he can and will use in his life and career. Specifically, our objectives are: (1) to provide every student with facility in the basic skills of arithmetic, algebra and geometry, (2) to develop facility in the conversion of a practical situation into a form suitable for mathematical treatment, (3) to provide a firm foundation for further study of mathematics, and (4) to dispel the general fear of quantitative thinking framed in mathematical language. The twelve courses offered by the department are designed to fulfill these aims.

In the present international scientific marathon it is imperative that extra effort be extended toward providing earlier and better training for those students who have possibilities of making original contributions in their chosen fields. It is for these students that the Advanced Placement Program in Mathematics was instituted this year. The program consists of a full year course in the Calculus and related Analytic Geometry which parallels the course now given in many colleges. It is achievement in this course for which advanced placement and credit is given by the colleges.

The teaching staff and physical facilities of the science department enable any student to obtain the experiences needed to meet the technological and other complex challenges encountered in a science-dominated world. Students are acquainted with established facts from our classical literature. They are encouraged, however, to become familiar with the new in all areas of science, especially biology, chemistry, physics. That which was once accepted but is no longer true today must be unlearned!

Opportunities for individual experimentation are extensive. Demonstrations are numerous in all classes and student laboratory work is an integral part of most courses. When possible, students may also work in the labs before schools, after school, and during study periods. This is the year interested students had the first opportunity to use the weather instruments installed on the roof of the new wing.

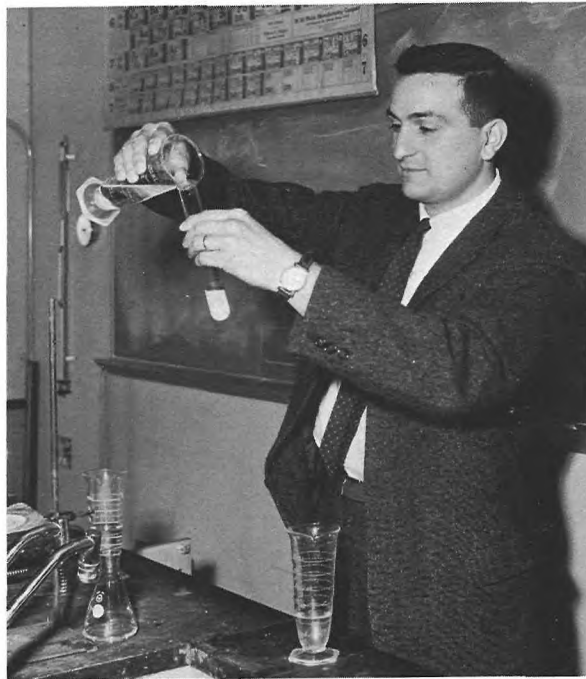

We assume that the man on the street is forced to learn a vocabulary, to extend his vision, to dare to accept a dwindling and expanding world, to acquire scientific literacy. Our hope is to set his sights beyond the long, straight furrow of our fathers.

The age of rockets and space travel to far-off planets increases the importance of the work of the Social Studies Department. It must prepare students to live happy, useful, and intelligent lives in a new age, yet in an earth-bound society. Mankind, more than ever, needs to learn how to adjust to each other at home and with our neighbors abroad. This is no small challenge.

To meet this challenge, the department is constantly developing its course offerings for students, making changes to meet modern needs. The department is making a study of the skills which high school students need to do the work of the world today. A new course in Civics-Geography is planned as a first step in this modernization process. Other changes within the regular courses are under study. All of these departmental developments will offer greater opportunities for those who want to enlarge their background in the knowledge and understanding of those issues of today which, by proper solution, can strengthen our democratic society in the space age.

During the freshman year the business student is introduced to a basic course called Business Training. This course gives an understanding of how businesses operate and an appreciation of the relationship between business and the community. In the sophomore, junior, and senior years more emphasis is placed upon special interests of the student. In the senior year the students have an opportunity to develop skills studied earlier. It is equally important for business students to know how to act properly in a business office; therefore, our Office Training course includes lessons on how to apply for a job, what to wear at an interview, how to get along with fellow workers, and how to behave in an office.

The city of East Orange is rapidly becoming the home of many business concerns and along with our neighboring community, Newark, affords employment to scores of people who are trained in accounting, typewriting, and stenography. The Department of Business Education provides the necessary courses for students preparing for business careers. Students who seriously apply themselves can step into office positions after graduation without studying additional subjects at business school or college.

DEPARTMENT OF SPEECH AND DRAMATICS

Willard H. Mohn
M.A.

To develop poise and ease in speaking both in and out of the classroom is one of the chief objectives of the Speech Department. This year Mr. Mohn, talented head of the department, is located in Room 114. The room is equipped with a stage and a make up table.

Besides offering courses in speech, play production, and public speaking, the department does a remarkable job in producing, every year, a one-act play plus a three act student-faculty play. This year's play was a melodrama entitled The Spider.

"Now let's say that line over again with vigah."

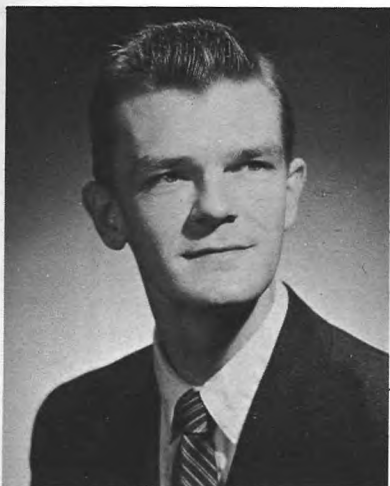

A Speech I class receives some instruction in how to talk from Mr. Mohn.

Mr. Wolverton tells Mr. Mohn's freshmen speech class that they had better behave or they might get him for history.

DEPARTMENT OF INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Richard G. Berggren
B.S., Instrumental

The East Orange High School Band begins the school year as a marching band. As such, the band performs at all high school football games.

At the end of the football season, the band re-forms as a Symphonic Band and begins rehearsing to develop the repertoire for its Spring Concert.

The Dance Band offers additional opportunity for development by interested players. In addition to its performances in the high school, the Dance Band performed at Rutgers University for the State Student Council Convention in late 1962.

This year the Music Department again offered a course in Music Appreciation. This course provides interested students an opportunity to learn how to listen to, and evaluate, the music of the world's great composers.

Elsie P. Davis, Accompanist

Mr. Gilbert conducting at the Christmas Concert with Mr. Berggren, Steve Lowry, and Gabe Petrocelli playing the trumpets in the corner.

Appreciation of musical masterpieces through participation is the main objective of the Vocal Music Department.

Solo and duet work for the Christmas and Spring Concerts, which are our two main events of the year, was accomplished by the advanced voice class, which is the result of the expanded schedule.

The 313 students participating in the vocal music department include six sections of training groups. During the student's first year in the department, he must enter a training group, which will prepare him for advanced choral music.

Ed.M., Head

Two new courses in the industrial arts field were introduced this year. A major in each of the shops was offered to upperclassmen, and all classes were filled to capacity. Another new course, "Adventures in Industrial Arts," for first year students, offered experiences in all shops. This course is intended not only as a good educational experience, but also as a means by which the student is able to discover his interests and abilities.

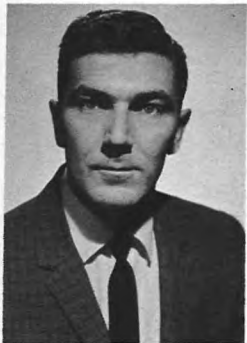

East Orange High School is fortunate in having an industrial arts staff of exceptionally well qualified teachers who have not only had many years of experience, but also are recognized as experts in their fields.

"I wonder what will happen if I take the needle out of the sewing machine?"

This past year, as always, the Home Economics program has projected an informal, homelike atmosphere for its students with the help of other departments in the school. The purpose of the Department of Home Economics is to enrich the total school curriculum with learning experiences focused on managerial, manipulative, and personal aspects of family living.

The Home Economics Department has revised its study guide in the following courses: Foods and Nutrition, Clothing and Textiles, Home and Family life, (Modern Living), and Home Nursing. The new approved New Jersey Home Economics State Guide was used in form and was applied to the East Orange High School community. Foods III was returned to the departmental offerings.

DEPARTMENT OF FINE AND APPLIED ARTS

Bernice S. Price, M.S.

Dorothy A. Upham, M.A.

"I wonder what this is going to be?"

Miss Upham explains to students that all types of materials may be used in art.

The uniqueness of each individual as he breathes his imaginative sensitivity into each creation is an ever vigilant aim of the art department.

Our Fine Arts and Crafts courses afford opportunity for all students to pursue their creative interests. The exploration of a very great diversity of materials is a challenge to inventiveness.

Art Service is a program innovation this year. Twenty experienced art students elected three extra hours. They assume the responsibility of designing and arranging the case exhibits, hall displays, and portable units, which are moved throughout the subject matter areas.

Driver Education is composed of the classroom phase and the Behind-the-Wheel phase. Classroom instruction deals with driver attitudes and physical characteristics: the motor vehicle in modern life, rules of the road, laws of physics related to driving, the automobile and its maintenance, good pedestrian practices, and the development of driving skills.

Behind-the-Wheel instruction includes teacher demonstrations and pupil practice in starting, steering, shifting gears, making turns, stopping, backing, and parking. Beginning under simple conditions, instruction progresses until the student acquires reasonable skill in driving on (1) urban streets and open highways with efficiency, poise, and confidence, (2) in accord with rules of the road and with the laws of physics related to driving, and (3) in a manner that indicates a desire on the student's part to show courteous consideration for pedestrians and other drivers and for the occupants of his vehicle.

The objective of the Boys' Physical Education Department this year is to build strong, sound bodies, to maintain physical and mental health, and to promote good sportsmanship. Under the direction of Mr. Welsh, this department is carrying on with its plan to revise and to improve its varied program.

With the new guidance program, each student is required to take four periods a week of physical education and one of guidance. In either the junior or senior year health education is taken. All students must pass health in order to graduate.

There are at present 12 points which are used to determine a student's grade. Among these points are: participation, physical fitness, gymnastic tests, and the teacher's estimate of the student.

"What'll I do now that I got the ball?"

DEPARTMENT OF GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Roslyn L. Lightfoot
M.A.

Teachers in the Girls' Physical Education Department aim to assist girls in obtaining physical fitness. Each year the members try also to offer sports which upper-class girls may pursue as hobbies in their own lives. Some of these sports offered are: tennis, badminton, and bowling.

Development of citizenship and leadership, as well as character, are stressed both in the regular gym and in the broad intramural program. Squad leaders are not only a valuable aid to the teacher, but they make the classes enjoyable for all.

Physical education implies not only the development and conditioning of one's body, but also implies the growth of sound emotional, mental social habits and attitudes. It is felt that these objectives are met in the Girls' Physical Education Department through experiences in sports, dance, and gymnastics.

"I never could play this ole game anyway."

ACTIVITIES

East Orange High is very proud of its student government, the back bone of which is the Student Council.

Louis Hynes, President; Anna Amato, Vice-President; Maxine Gilchrist, Treasurer; Mary Colucci, Recording Secretary; and Nancy Hulit, Corresponding Secretary, make up the executive branch of the Council. Other members include a representative from all homerooms and school clubs.

In the Spring the Juniors select candidates to run in the school elections, and the following September the winners, now Seniors, are duly installed in their respective offices. The ceremony is performed at our annual Student Council Assembly which is presided over by Morgan T. Loesch, our principal.

Any proposed change in our school-life activities may be brought up in Student Council, discussed, voted upon, and accepted or rejected. The Council also charters new clubs and recharts those already established. It also sponsors dances and other money-raising projects to increase the funds in the G.O. treasury. This year the Council has begun work on a Foreign Student Exchange Program.

In all the functions mentioned above, and in countless more, the Student Council provides a fine background for students who soon will be on their own in our democratic society. Truly the Student Council is a major building block upon which the mansions of our futures may be built.

ECHOES

Advisor Mrs. Cohen points out some of the fine points of a literary magazine to editors Steve Crystal, John Tallmadge, Sue Emch and Larry Flamholtz.

"The purpose of ECHOES shall be to provide an outlet for student creative enterprise . . ." Eureka! At last! East Orange High School has finally seen its own literary magazine published! Why all the commotion? Because ECHOES is the first attempt at a literary magazine ever made at E.O.H.S. Moreover, the quality of the students' contributions has been superb, and this factor, combined with an original cover by the Art Department plus the untiring efforts of the editorial staff helped contribute to the monumental success of the first issue of ECHOES.

All the students who contributed their work felt the eager anticipation: "Will my story be published?" The literary staff was deluged with manuscripts ranging in scope from petite, picturesque poems to superlative short stories to erudite essays. Editors and advisers worked long hours evaluating and re-evaluating the students' work, selecting samples suitable for publication, and preparing a "dummy copy of the magazine. When the finished product appeared, it presented the best creative efforts of East Orange High School students and firmly set ECHOES upon its feet as an institution of our school.

NEWS

NEWS BOARD

The NEWS, which keeps our school informed on current happenings, has a regular schedule it follows diligently. It publishes an issue once a month.

The routine starts out by giving all the reporters and tyros stories about which they find details. The next week, on what is known as copy day, all the stories are planned on each page. On the next Thursday (Galley Day) a proof of the NEWS is sent back from the printers to be proofread by the editors. This ritual takes place ten times a year.

This year's editors are Marsha Leedham, Georgia Davis, Janet Rosen, Sandra Brown, Larry Messina, and James Pendorf. Into their hands is placed the great responsibility of turning out the best paper the school has ever seen.

In March the editors for the next year are decided upon. In the May issue the new editors are placed entirely on their own. As the editors leave our hallowed halls, they can look back and feel that the 1962-1963 NEWS was the best ever.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

"Always be sure to distinguish the active from the passive, and . . ." . . . Now, we find that the slope of a line equals . . ." . . . "Notice how Boyle's Law applies here . . ."

Such sounds are common in room 214, headquarters of our National Honor Society chapter, as scholarly members tutor their confused "pupils" in mathematics, physics, and other erudite subjects. Tutoring is the main service of this organization, an institution whose chief goals are to "create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to promote worthy leadership, to stimulate a desire to render service and to encourage the development of character in the students of East Orange High School."

Under the leadership of its adviser, Miss De Luke, and its President, Michael Della Terza, the Society has done much to promote scholarship and school spirit among the students of E.O.H.S. In addition to tutoring pupils, the list of Honor Society activities includes sponsoring the Honor Rolls, a banking program, and a Cleanup Campaign in collaboration with the Art Service Club.

State Champions

BASEBALL

Head Coach Von Stetten

For the second time in three years, the Panthers captured the State Sectional Group IV Championship by defeating a strong Nutley High School in the finals of the State-sponsored Tournament.

The Panthers were paired against powerful Montclair High in the quarter-finals of the State Tournament, and won by an 8-4 tally. In the semi-finals, East Side of Newark fell by the same score. The coveted State Title came to East Orange as a result of the come-from-behind victory over Nutley.

The team also was the third EO baseball squad in succession to turn in a winning record.

Led by captains George Pearce and Richard Carsillo, the team began the season by losing four of the first five games, but then proceeded to capture the next nine contests in succession.

Selected to play in the Greater Newark Tournament, EO was seeded fifth among forty-three entries, falling to the eventual champions, Garfield, in the initial round.

Certainly to be counted among the accomplishments of the 1962 season were the two victories over formidable Montclair, and the first victory over a Nutley team in over twenty years. The come-from-behind win over Montclair gave Coach Von Stetten his greatest coaching thrill.

It must be said that the 1962 Panthers will go down as one of the outstanding baseball teams in the history of the school.

Essex County Champions

TRACK

The Panthers, led by a nucleus of underclassmen, highlighted a successful season by winning the coveted Essex County Group III and IV Championship in a meet sparked with record-breaking performances.

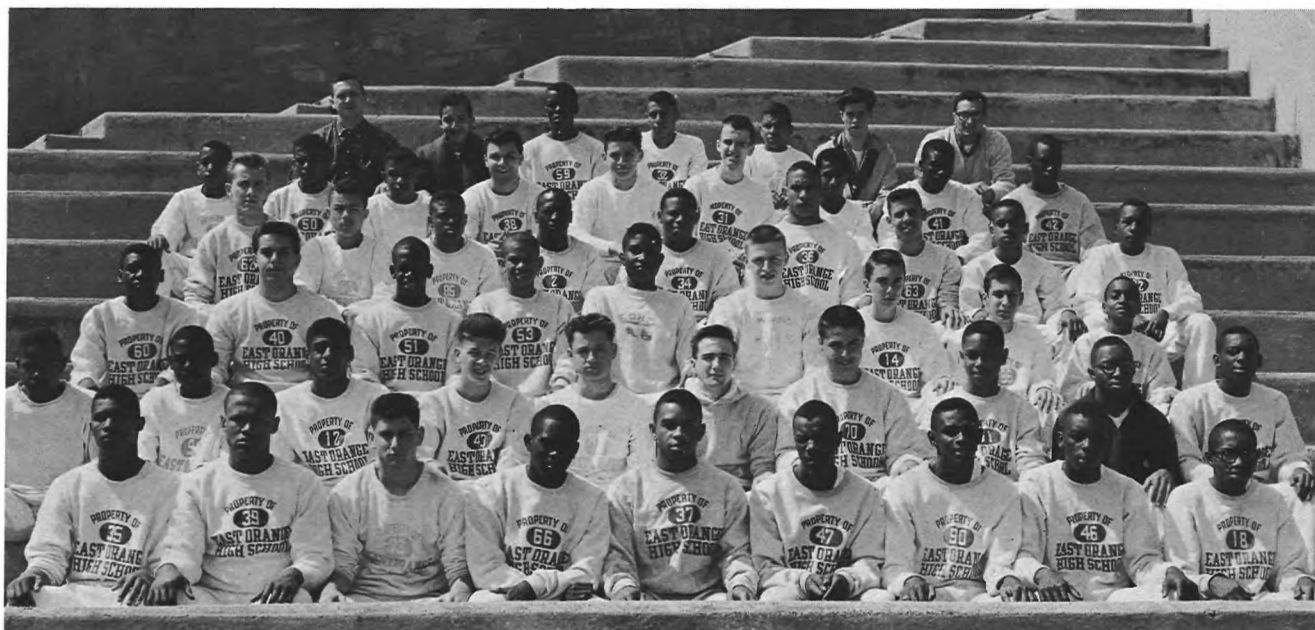

John Freeman, later to become the State Champion in the 180 yard low hurdles, tied in the low and high hurdles with marks of 19.1 and 14.1 seconds respectively. Quincy Yarborough shattered a 14-year-old school record in the shot-put by rocketing the iron sphere 55'6½". Combined with superb performances by senior captain John Johnson, Juniors Paul Carey, Tom Jackson, and Berkely Brown, and Sophomore sensation Reggie Henry, the Panthers suppressed powerful Montclair, Millburn, and twelve other schools for the crown of track supremacy in Essex County. As Coach Charles Brennan remarked, "It was gratifying to see a team that has worked so diligently throughout the year co-ordinate its strength and power and gain for the team the recognition it so well deserves."

For the first time in the schools history a mile relay was sent to the Penn Relay Carnival in Philadelphia. This team, paced by captain John Johnson, placed second in its class and received individual awards. This same team later set a mile relay record of 3 min. 31 sec. in the Orange Relays held at Colombia High School.

The season record showed the Panthers were victorious in five duals and three triangular meets and suffered defeat in one dual meet.

Tennis gives a player a great sense of individual accomplishment. It is the type of sport that any normal person, when shown how the shots are made, can, with a fair amount of practice, play satisfactorily. No special physical qualifications are necessary, such as extra height or reach, though these are advantages. One of our outstanding champions with a tremendous forehand was a small man; so was the case with a famous English player. These monsters of the sport developed themselves with numerous practice sessions.

The 1962 Tennis Season at E.O.H.S. was far from being a success in the area of winning games. We lacked experience because of graduation the previous year. There was not one senior on the team and only two returning lettermen from a team that also had a poor record. Most of the boys who came out for the team had little or no organized tennis experience. The boys played energetically, but there was too much to overcome, as you can see by our record of one win and fourteen losses.

Coach Wilson is looking forward to the 1963 season with great enthusiasm. It was a pleasant experience seeing the boys develop as the season progressed. This year he will have eight returning lettermen and three other players that should help our team a great deal. It is still a young team with only two seniors, but Wilson is confident we'll improve on last year's record.

Compiling a 12-3 record, the E.O. Cross-Country team finished with its most successful record in over a decade. An outstanding team effort accounted for this unusual success.

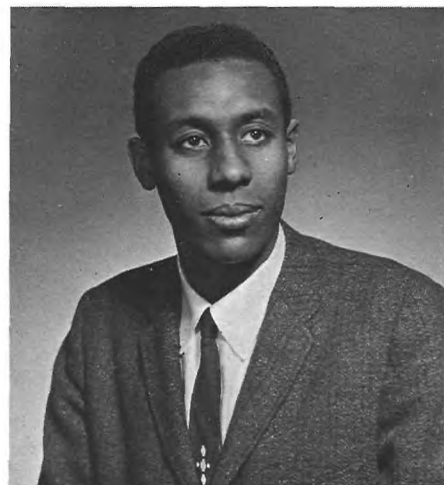

The first meet against Montclair predicted the entire course of the season. With Reggie Henry and James Scrimmager placing one-two, the team triumphed by a score of 24-36. Victories over Barringer, West Side and Livingston followed in quick succession.

The weather (warm but cloudy) foretold the result of our first loss to Columbia. Proving the old maxim that "when it rains it pours," the team placed a lowly third below South Side and Irvington in its next contest—a triangular meet.

A series of dual meets completed the regular season, with East Orange winning every one. East Orange also participated in four invitational tournaments. In the Big Ten we finished second; in the Essex County, third; and in the State Meet the team closed off the year by copping 9th place.

The junior varsity, as well as the varsity, (Reggie Henry, James Scrimmager, Doug Herrig, Paul Sanders, Lorenzo Goins, and Bill Wheeler), deserve a round of applause for their teamwork and labor.

Big Ten Champs

Because of the efforts of the 1962 Soccer Team, East Orange has become one of the strongest soccer powers in New Jersey, having compiled a record of 10 wins, 1 loss, and 2 ties.

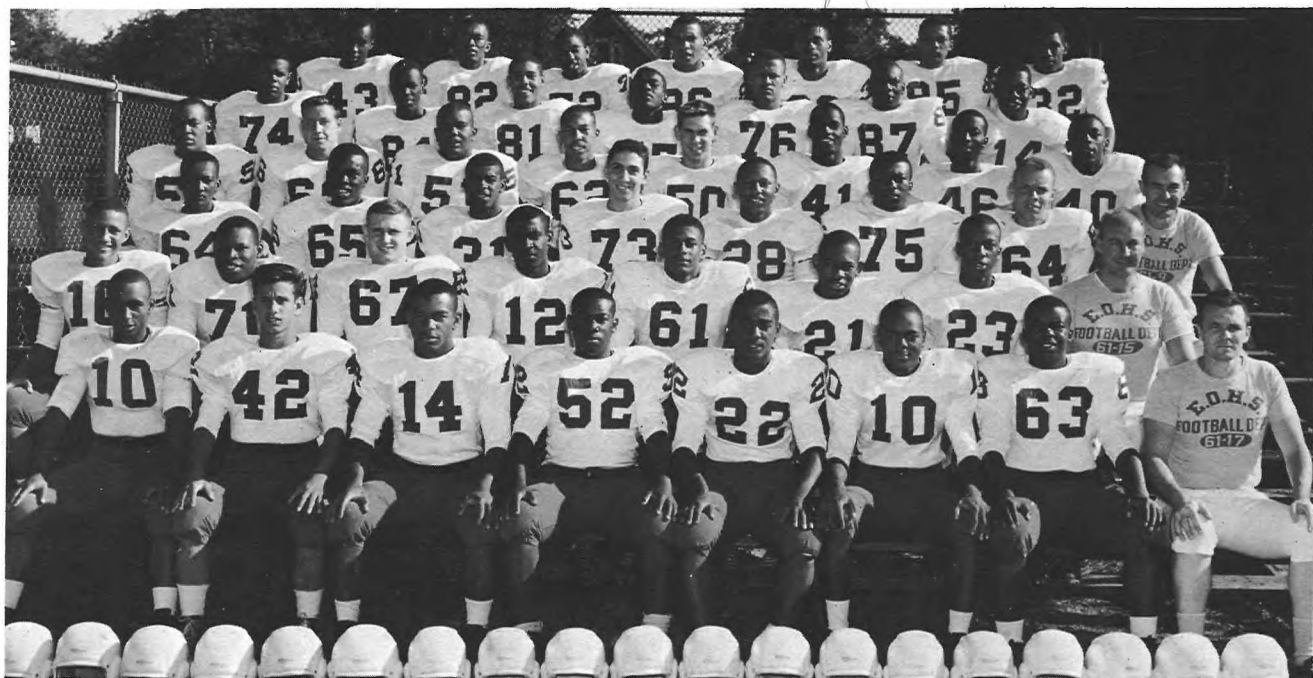

Since 1945, no Panther Soccer team has racked up a comparable record. Previous to that year no team had come near '45's 8-0-1.

The highlights of the season included beating Montclair High School by a score of 8-0. Earning 7 shut-outs in 13 games, scoring a total of 35 goals to the combined total of 8 for the opposition, qualifying for the semi-finals of the state championship, and winning the Big Ten Championship were other outstanding features.

1962 was not only a successful season in terms of wins and losses. Other successes were in the increasing number of boys coming out for the team, the steady flow of spectators, and the good sportsmanship of the players.

Coach John McGuckin hopes that the 1963 Soccer Team continues to be successful in the tradition of the team of 1962.

Group IV Section 2 Champs

The 1962 Football season proved to be a very satisfying and successful one. A look at the record of games played showed seven wins, one loss, and one tie. Even though this record was to bring the Group IV Section 2 State Championship, and a second in rank among all teams in the state, the way in which these accomplishments came about highlighted the year.

Going into the season with a number of veterans, East Orange was picked as a pre-season favorite. This feeling was soon justified by clear cut superiority in three pre-season scrimmages against Bayonne, Long Branch and Clifton High Schools. An opening game win over Bellville seemed to all but insure a clean sweep. A tie to Nutley was thought to be the worst that could happen; however, a fine passing quarterback from West New York's Memorial High School led his team to a 19-13 victory over the Panthers, virtually knocking them out of any title contention. Hanging on to the old adage that you can knock a good man down, but you can't keep him down, East Orange proceeded to climb back with six straight victories, including key wins over Montclair and Columbia. With a concerted effort by the team, the Panther squad ended the season with six straight victories by outscoring their opponents 133 points to 46, their victories thus culminating in the Group IV Section 2 Championship.

COACH MILNER

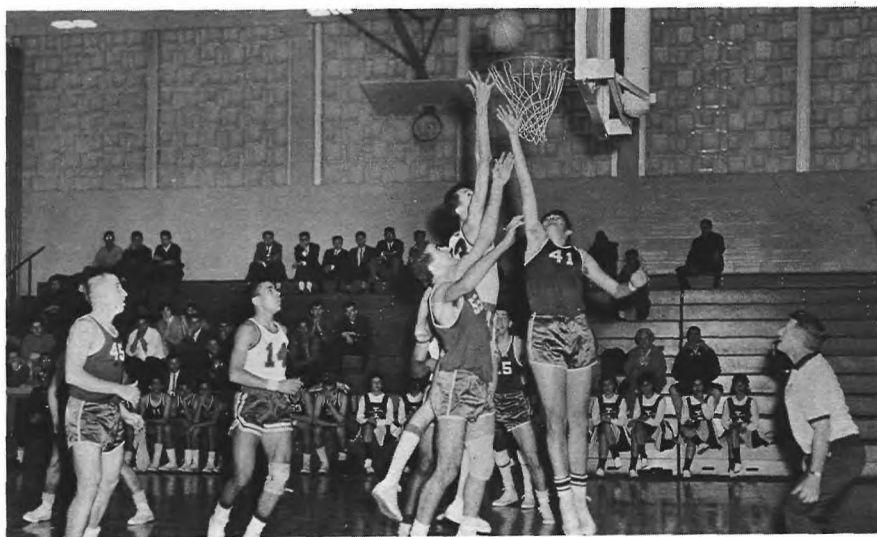

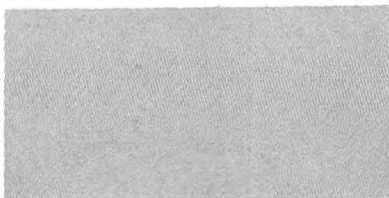

With a young starting five composed of three juniors and two seniors, the Panther cage squad terminated its regular season with seven straight victories and a 13-4 slate. Bill Raye, Tom Jackson, Mike Ehret, Harry James, Bill Lovett, and Gaylord George carried the Panthers championship hopes into the E.C.T. and the Group IV state tournaments. After a successful opening-round victory over Archbishop Walsh in the E.C.T., East Orange put up a tough but losing battle against top-seeded and eventual tourney winner Central, of Newark. The Cats were eliminated in the opening-round of the State tournament by a tall Columbia five. Coach Frank Milner gave special praise to the remarkable development of juniors, Harry James and Gaylord George and to the late season improvement of Bill Raye. The fine ball-handling and dazzling drive of Bill Lovett and Tom Jackson gave Panther fans many thrilling moments. One of Coach Milner's most memorable experiences was leading Central going into the final quarter of the E.C.T. quarter-finals. Next year's hopes look bright with the returning of three starters from this year's squad plus the hope for development of big men Brian Blake and Quincy Yarborough. This year's strong J.V. contingent should provide plenty of talent for the '63-'64 varsity.

ICE HOCKEY

COACH EDELSTEIN

The won-lost record of this year's hockey team is not a valid indicator of its exceptional performance on the ice. These are the youngsters who organized E.O.'s first hockey team 3 years ago under extremely difficult conditions with no ice to practice upon and inferior, second-hand equipment. They entered the league last year with high hopes but little hockey proficiency. The team did not win a game and lost by large scores. However, this year was a different story. After a shaky first game loss to Chatham, champion two years in a row, the boys settled down and played ice hockey. The wins were few, but they were inmemorable ones. Verona was beaten 2-0 with James Ross, our great goalie, making over 40 saves! Also, beating Montclair twice, 4-3 and 3-2 was another bright light in our season. Mike Ram, Bill Gerulsky, Bill Ohme, and Gerry Cauza played the key roles in these games. Our last victory against W. Orange, 1-0, was a hard fought battle all the way, with the only score of the game coming from the stick of Donald Critchett. It is also pertinent to notice that aside from the first loss to Chatham no team beat E.O. by more than 5 goals; 5 games were decided by 3 goals or fewer; 1 game ended in a tie. The consistent, stellar defensive skating of Steve Fuchs, Tack Arnould, and Bob Gibson accounted for many, many saves and low-scoring contests. We had our share of scorers this year also, as James Kanzenbach scored 4 goals in one game and Mike Ram scored 3 in another. These boys are graduating in June, but they have their mark at E.O. Their rising at 4:30 a.m. to practice in sub-freezing weather and playing games before a handful of people consisting of parents and a few loyal fans and teachers will long be remembered by those who had the privilege to see them in action. However, these boys were not interested in crowds or comfortable conditions. They wanted to play hockey—and play they did!!!

Intramural activities sponsored by the GAA include not only team sports such as volleyball, basketball, softball, but also those leisure time activities—archery, bowling, tennis, swimming, and badminton. Modern and folk dance round out a broad program which truly offers "A sport for every girl, and every girl in a sport".

In addition to play days with neighboring schools in team sports, GAA members are offered opportunities to participate in the archery and bowling mail-o-gram tournaments, state high school play day in June, and the camping weekend. These are all activities held by the New Jersey Athletic Association for girls.

Special events held by the association during the year such as the Freshman Orientation Program, student-faculty games, and the spring picnic add fun and variety to the program. In addition, fund raising projects enabled the GAA to award Doris Walker a $50 scholarship to Trenton State College in 1962.

With the aid of the association officers—Ginny Freeman, President; Diane Charleston, Vice-President; Jackie Brevard, Secretary; Juanita Gilcrest, Hostess; and Intermural Managers' Board—the organization has had a successful year.
