The Syllabus underwent a radical change this year. It became more personal. It did not seek to present the entire student body of East Orange High School. Instead, it centers around a chosen few, the seniors. This year, the Syllabus reveals the hopes, dreams and anxieties of the graduating class.

Our staff came to the Syllabus to experience the feelings of a group of people. We saw the beauty of the Class of '71. We conquered by presenting the class in Syllabus 1971.

EDUCATION

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

The East Orange Board of Education, in conjunction with the Superintendent of Schools and his assistants, plan carefully for each school year. The Board prepares and studies the budget and expenditures on the basis of community opinion and the reality of the educational experience.

ADMINISTRATION

East Orange High School has been said to be the students' second home. Every home, to function successfully, needs organization and efficient management. The problems that confront our high school "family" are different than those in the home. The administrators must concern themselves with problems of attendance, discipline and curriculum. These men with their secretaries maintain a pleasant working atmosphere for all.

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

High school seniors are in the midst of planning their futures, and welcome skilled assistance. Guidance counselors at EOHS must advise students as to the opportunities available to them after graduation and help them choose a field of endeavor equal to their qualification and personal desire.

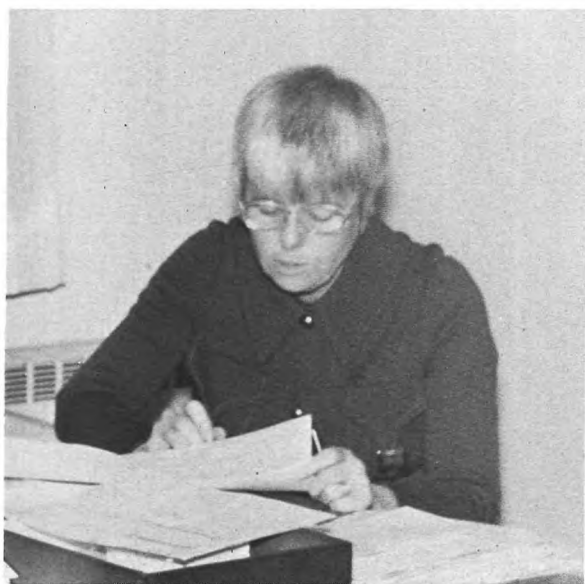

Counselors suggest courses that will help with the student's future plans when either continuing education or selecting a job. The counselors in guidance view every student as an individual and try to advise him to the best of their abilities.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Language is the tool of communication; therefore, a good command of the English language is necessary for clear verbal expression. Our English department tries to achieve this goal by combining a curriculum of grammatical study and an introduction to various types of literature. All students are required to take English in order to comply with the state requirement for secondary schools.

In addition to regular classes, the English department offers several electives. These include Better Writing, a course designed to improve writing skill; Journalism, given to the exploration of the fundamentals of newspaper and magazine writing; Modern Literature, a class that concentrates on contemporary literary works, and Humanities, an academic elective that evaluates man through his fields of creativity, music, literature, and the arts.

The English department also contains the reading department. The four instructors in the program offer remedial help as well as speed and comprehension drills.

Our English department is one that prides itself on successfully teaching a command of English and giving students an opportunity to explore other fields of literary endeavor.

HISTORY DEPARTMENT

RUTH E. LINDSAY, M.A.
Head

Man's life is a constant search for identity. History provides a starting point for this search. By evaluating men in other times past, man can see his times more clearly.

World history starts all phases of Man's development, social, economic, cultural and intellectual. Civics acts as an introduction to the fundamentals of government and the responsibility of a citizen. Geography gives an idea of the world's physical structure thus showing its effects on social existence.

Afro-Asian history is an academic elective that provides students with the opportunity to research areas of the world which often go unrecognized.

U.S. History is offered in two parts during the junior and senior years. It is required by state law in the hope that every student will have a solid background of knowledge about the history of this country. The Advanced Placement History course follows the same principle but it encompasses more rigorous and intensive study. Qualified students are exposed to college teaching technique. If they feel confident in their knowledge at the end of the year, they may take an advanced placement exam. Upon receiving satisfactory achievement on this test, some may receive college credit for this course.

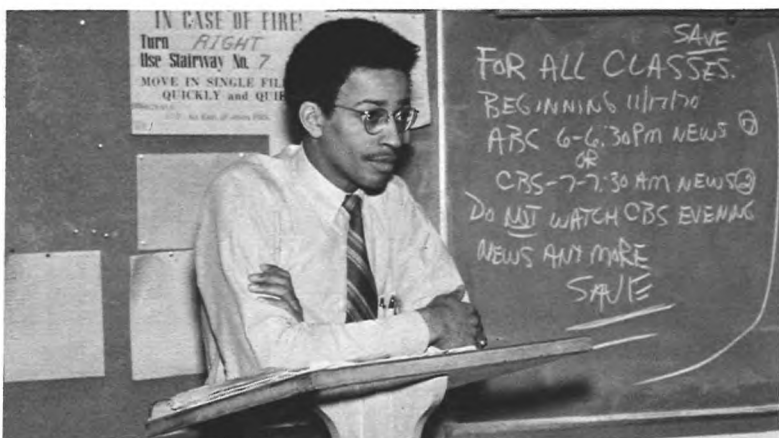

Modern Living classes are offered to both male and female students to assist them in understanding the social problems of today and their role in their solutions.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

The department of foreign languages of East Orange High offers a large selection of languages. French, German, Italian, Latin, Spanish, Swahili, Russian, and Chinese are available.

The beginning courses offer an intensive study of grammar and syntax. More advanced courses introduce various types of literature with a constant review of basic rules and principles of conversation.

GRACE ROBINSON, B.A.

MARGARET L. YOBBI, B.A.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

The Science Department's course of study is organized in such a way that a student may select a science course for each year of attendance at EOHS.

Basic Science introduces the student to the basic concepts of biology, physics, and chemistry.

Biology examines the life cycles of various life forms. The lab experience in this course allows the student to observe the workings of various systems which function similarly to those of human beings.

The Physics course is designed to help the student evaluate his environment through an understanding of the laws of nature. The weekly laboratory gives the student an opportunity to constitute certain simulated physical situations and observe the effect of the natural laws.

Chemistry explores the functions, materials and elements of the periodic table as well as their reactions to each other.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

The mathematics department is prepared to assist the student in almost any given field.

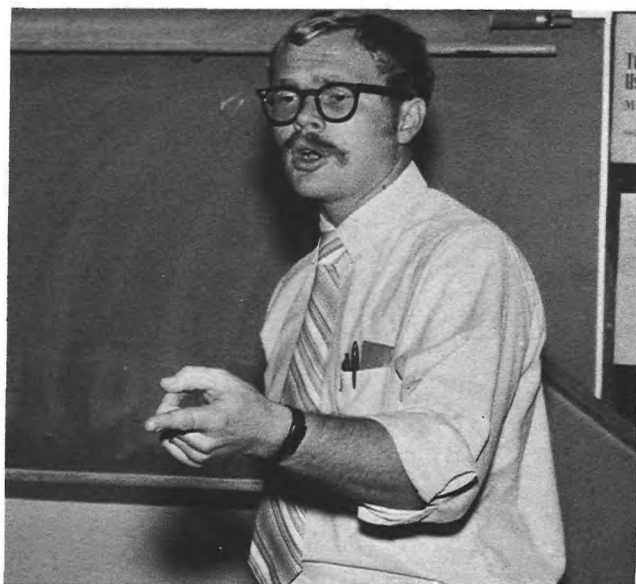

The general course develops the student's previous knowledge of math and provides him with the basic skills needed to compete in today's world.

The college preparatory pattern includes courses in algebra, trigonometry, geometry, probability, and calculus. The theory and utilization of mathematical language is evident in every course.

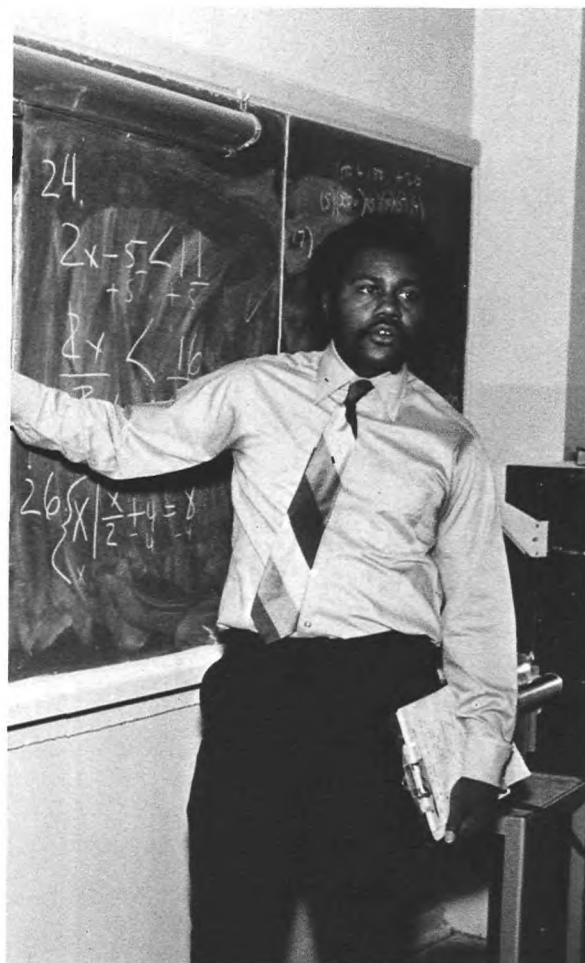

Math review is offered to upper classmen who wish to review or reinforce their math background. The review entails algebra, coordinate geometry, introductory analysis, and probability.

The high degree of economic activity that takes place in E.O.H.S. each year makes it necessary that our business education department be particularly strong.

Beginning courses in skills such as typewriting, stenography, bookkeeping and shorthand are offered as well as follow-up courses in these subjects. Consumer economics, business arithmetic, and clerical practice are courses designed to initiate business-like attitudes in the students.

Distributive Education gives students an opportunity to experience practical application of classroom theory.

MUSIC, SPEECH, AND DRAMA DEPARTMENT

The performing arts are both entertaining and informative. Persons, involved and observing, enjoy this part of the "education experience" immensely. East Orange High School attempts to give students with interests in music, speech and drama an opportunity to pursue them. By doing this the other students at the school benefit from the plays and various types of musical programs presented.

Courses are offered in speech, acting and directing, and play production. Courses in instrumental and vocal music are available also. These classes provide the student with a knowledge of theory of music and speech as well as an opportunity to apply this knowledge in the form of the concerts and plays. This element makes this department one of the most pleasant to be affiliated with.

ART DEPARTMENT

Art courses give students an opportunity to express their creativity through various mediums, while under the direction of a well qualified staff.

Displays of the students' work may be seen throughout the school. This year, the art department combined practicality and creativity with a colorful garbage can decoration competition for a clean-up campaign. "Can-It" was the slogan of the competition and Reginald Wilkes, Beverly McCloud, and Gilbert Peterson were the winners.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

In the industrial arts department, those who choose to obtain mechanical skills find that type of training. Courses in many phases of industry are available. Woodworking, metals, graphic arts, mechanical drawing and electronics are offered. A student may follow prescribed projects or design his own more challenging project.

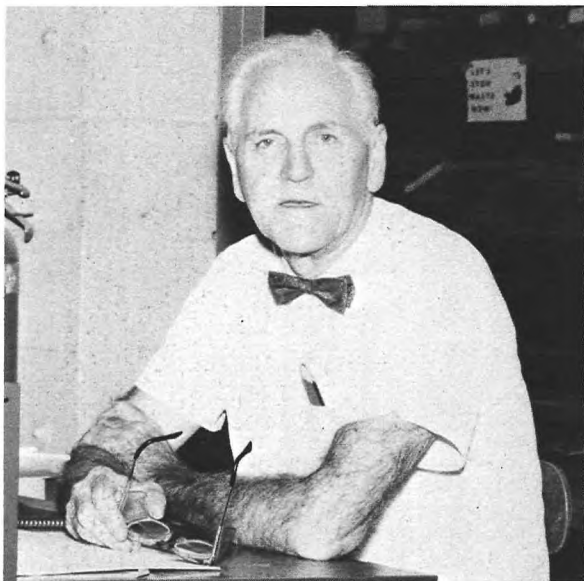

In this department, a work-study program has been developed. In this program, a student receives on-the-job training and gains a sense of responsibility.

DRIVERS' EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Automobiles are a main source of transportation in this century. A knowledge of the machinery and good driving skills are essential to becoming a successful and safe driver.

In order to accomplish this, our driver education department offers two courses. Driver Education is mandatory and consists of the theory of driving. Proper habits and attitudes toward driving are formed through filmstrips, transparencies, lectures and psycho-physical testing.

The second course is called Behind-the-Wheel. This non-credited elective meets twice a week for one semester. Here the student is given an opportunity to experience driving under the supervision of a qualified instructor. It is hoped that upon completion of these courses a future driver will operate a more efficient car and drive safely.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT

Schools are designed to prevent any major accident, but maximum preventive measures have not eliminated the stomach aches, scratches and splinters that enter the nurse's office each day. To accommodate the students, there are two nurses and a doctor on call daily. All are friendly and offer sympathy as readily as medical help.

ACTIVITIES

STUDENT COUNCIL

The role of the Student Council in any school is an important one. This organization has the awesome task of bringing the total student body together for the purpose of bettering the school.

Usually, the Student Council is in charge of recognizing new clubs, scheduling school dances, and student exchange programs. This year, however, the Council surpassed itself in its service to East Orange High. The week of May 2-8 was proclaimed Black Awareness Week. Its aim was "To sensitize and educate the total school population to the special needs, activities, and goals of Black People in their push toward freedom." Such activities as a benefit gospel concert and cake sale called Soul Enlightenment, a cook-out called Kupika Pamoja (cooking together), and a Dance and Art Bazaar were well attended, and lectures were held on Black Attitudes and Values, The Resurrection of the Black Mind, The Organized Black Dollar, The Black Experience in Arts, and The Politics of a Nation within a Nation.

SYLLABUS

Developing an outstanding yearbook requires many hours of physical and mental work. It is no simple task to present on a limited amount of pages the people and activities of the school year in an interesting, informative, and original manner.

The members of the Syllabus staff must be willing to give their talents on an individual and group basis. Those talents may range from writing, photography, or typing, to the abstracts of imagination, planning or supervising.

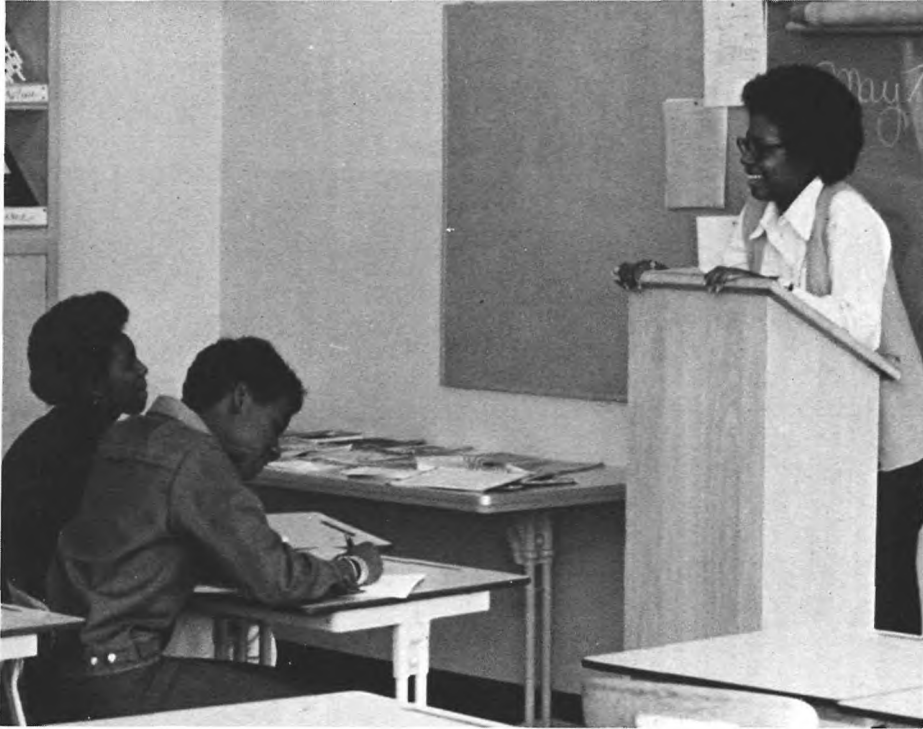

We've combined these talents and hours of precious work in Syllabus 1971.

Selecting pictures. Which one should go where?

"Get it right now. We can't mess up the page count like we did last year."

"Do you think we'll ever get this thing finished?"

"What kind of layout is this?!"

THE NEWS

The total student can be described as one who is fully aware of what takes place in his school. The means by which the student is informed of various events is by reading the school newspaper. The school paper is able to bring all of the happenings in the school together, thus enabling students to experience all of the important occurrences in one moment. That is the function of The News and during its lifetime it has attempted to do this one thing!

ETC. . . .

The writers of ETC . . . are searching for their identities, as everyone is, through poetry and prose. In their weekly meetings, they discuss the fundamentals of style, expression, and imagery.

The members also sought other opinions, writings, and poetry by asking the student body to contribute any literature they may have to the magazine.

This year's literary magazine should be one that will present the talents and varied opinions of the students of East Orange High School beautifully and skillfully.

PANTHER PLAYERS

The Panther Players are trained in their separate drama classes to be actors, directors, and stage managers. They study the fundamentals of speech, such as projection and enunciation, as well as the notation of the stage.

On May 24, The Players took part in a play competition at the Buck's County Playhouse, New Hope, Pennsylvania. Their entry was a play called "Dope." At E.O.H.S., they skillfully presented "Day of Absence" and "Happy Ending," two plays dealing with the black man's status in American society.

The Panther Players work in conjunction with the Theatre Arts class, which assists the production with its expertise in set design and construction, costumes and lighting.

GIRLS' AND BOYS' COURT

Girls' and Boys' Courts is an organization dedicated to preserving justice in East Orange High School. Since the demerit system was organized by the discipline department this year, the function of these organizations is to try any person who wishes trial after he has accumulated ten demerits. They also handle cases dealing with discipline referrals.

Students are chosen for positions on Girls' and Boys' Court on the basis of citizenship and scholarship.

GIRLS' AND BOYS' STATE

Every year, the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary sponsor a week of lectures and discussions on America's governmental system. The program includes some 800 young men and women, chosen from high schools all over New Jersey.

It is held at Rider College in Trenton and Douglass in New Brunswick. The outstanding feature of this week-long event is the mock election of the Governors of Boys' and Girls' State.

East Orange High's delegates to Boys' and Girls' State this year were Wayne Barber, Byron Delemos, and Theresa Gaiter.

The Principal's Advisory Board was organized to provide an avenue of communication between the student body and the administration. It consists of the four class presidents, Brenda Jenkins, Keven Rainey, Elenora Simpson, and Pam Abraham, the Student Council president, Brenda Jones; the Black Student Union president, Buddy Hendricks; the editor of the Syllabus, Theresa Gaiter; a spokesman for the News, Paula Phillips; EOHS' Public Relations director, Steve Tyminski; two student representatives, John Gardner and Audrey Addison; the head of the Office of Attendance and Citizenship, Mr. Lathan Pridgen, and Mr. Harold Veal, Principal.

PRINCIPAL'S ADVISORY BOARD

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

As an organization whose purpose is to reward hard working, talented juniors and seniors by giving them recognition for their achievements, the National Honor Society functions as both an honorary and service organization. Striving to encourage the qualities of scholarship, leadership, and service, the Honor Society provides its members with an opportunity to be of service to their fellow students through a tutoring program.

This year because of the change in the number of marking periods and various other factors, some of the scholarship and extracurricular requirements for membership in the N.H.S. are being reviewed. Changes in the procedure of the induction ceremony are also being studied. Whatever the outcome of these revisions, the Honor Society will continue to operate according to its basic goals and ideals.

VOCAL MUSIC

Participation in the Vocal Music Department means work, work, and more work. The 56 members of A Cappella Choir combine classwork with the experience of performing at concerts. During class time, they work on various choral literature and musical points such as intonation, note reading, and blending. This year, A Cappella Choir gave fine performances at the City Hall Christmas tree lighting ceremony, the Howard Savings Bank Christmas program, our own Christmas Concert, Spring Concert, and other assembly programs.

In its first year of musical participation, Boys' Vocal Ensemble has developed as the vehicle by which a select group of the most outstanding male vocalists may perfect the skills of group singing and perform their repertoire alone and with Girls' Vocal Ensemble at concerts.

This year, Girls' Vocal Ensemble has given performances at the Christmas and Spring Concerts, school assemblies, and at other functions outside of the school. In order to prepare for the various concerts, it is often necessary for the girls to sacrifice some of their own time.

Through their intense practice and skill, the Vocal Music Department will always be one of the greater assets of East Orange High School.

*A progression . . . practice + practice
= a beautiful Christmas Concert.*

BAND

If practice and more practice is the key to success, then The East Orange High School Panther Band should do very well at the school band competition in Virginia Beach. Performing at every football game and pep rally, and participating in various parades and an annual spring concert should be of further assistance in developing the band's precise and unique performance.

Composed of the Wind Ensemble and the Symphonic Band, the marching Panther Band is the largest performing group in our school's instrumental department. Combined with the Twirlers, Color Guard and Drill Team, they make for an impressive performance.

PANTHERETTES

Style, poise, intelligence, and discipline are qualities which a squad member must possess while in the spotlight and out of it. The members of this year's Pantherettes have continued in the tradition of the preceding squads by maintaining a standard of the highest excellence.

The Color Guard, captained by Pamela Abraham, the Drill Team, captained by Rudine Smith, and the Twirlers, captained by Jackie Rice and co-captained by Lydia Mathis, participated in interscholastic squad competitions sponsored by the New Jersey Park Commission. As expected, the Pantherettes performed with distinction.

CHEERLEADERS

Probably the most exhausting of all squads, Cheerleaders are called on to perform during most of the school year. They have the sometimes frustrating, but mainly rewarding job of keeping the spirits of team and fans on a constant positive and high level.

This year's squad, led by senior Janice Carter, and co-captains Gail Gilmore and Carol Smith, proved to be remarkable not only in their enthusiasm and energy, but also in their gymnastic abilities. As a symbol of school spirit, the Cheerleaders cannot be surpassed.

WORLD YOUTH FORUM

Mr. Bowser gives Bemma and Claudio an idea of how cities are planned.

The World Youth Forum is an organization devoted to promoting understanding among the young people of the world. Each year, the New York-based Forum sponsors a program that provides trips to the United States for young people from almost every country in the world. These WYF delegates stay in American homes and visit American schools on the east coast.

This year, Bemma Donkoh, a delegate from Ghana, and Claudio Treves, a delegate from Italy, were guests at East Orange High. They lectured and listened at classes. They were both awarded the key to the city after a tour of City Hall and a luncheon with Mayor Hart. Lois Corrin and Charles Baskerville were their hosts.

The Forum also sponsors a European program, wherein American students tour Europe for an entire summer. The students meet with political figures of these foreign countries during their stay. This year, East Orange High School hopes to send Robert Dawkins as its delegate to the World Youth Forum's European Program.

SERVICE CLUBS

The service clubs of E.O.H.S. serve a two-fold purpose: first, to help the student learn about many services whose counterparts outside of the school are an integral part of the community, and second, to enable the student to contribute to the functioning of the school as an activity in itself.

The Medical Assistants are first introduced to the world of medicine and nursing while they do much of the necessary paperwork and other duties which are a part of a well-run medical department.

110 Assistants work as typists, messengers, and clerks in the Office of Attendance and Citizenship. They lend efficiency and charm to one of the busiest of offices.

The members of the Red Cross devoted time this year to a greatly publicized money drive for the benefit of the world's needy children.

The Audio-Visual Operators were always available to deliver, operate, and return AV equipment. Their efficiency aided all departments.

The Teens for Safe Driving Club continued to alert its members to the hazards and problems of driving today.

Library Council members gave invaluable assistance to the school librarians and student body.

Many performances were given at night in the auditorium, and the Usher Squad was always present to manage the distribution of programs and welcome patrons.

CAREER CLUBS

The career clubs of E.O.H.S. serve to stimulate and prepare interested students in many varied areas.

Junior Achievement has given many students the opportunity to establish their own corporation under the auspices of a major corporation in the area. The young men and women are also entitled to compete for several travel awards and scholarships.

Distributive Education provides experience for its students in the field of retailing and management and opportunities in the area of scholarships and national conference participations.

The Fashion Pacers stay informed in the world of fashion while conducting fashion shows and other activities to raise funds for a scholarship and their own financial needs.

The experiences and knowledge gained as a member of Future Nurses Club or Futea are a definite asset to those interested in nursing or teaching.

Other clubs such as the Chess Club, Amateur Radio Club, and Photography Club present the student with informative and challenging concepts that could lead to a rewarding vocation.

LANGUAGE CLUBS

The Language Clubs of East Orange High School were formed to give the students a deeper association with and knowledge of the language they have chosen to study. These clubs plan parties, discussions, and trips relative to their language study. At meetings of Le Cercle Français, the German Club, Circolo Italiano, the Junior Classical League, and the Spanish Club, the students study lives and cultures of foreign and ancient civilizations. Once a year, the clubs merge to give an International Party, featuring entertaining songs or skits presented by each club.

ATHLETIC ORGANIZATIONS

Any student who is interested in physical education, whether he excels in a sport or not, may belong to an athletic organization. The three major athletic organizations offer a variety of sports activities.

To become a member of the Girls' Athletic Association, a girl need only meet the requirement of attending any after school activity five times. The G.A.A. offers volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, archery, softball, and other athletic events during the year. Those who possess the necessary physical and teaching abilities may wish to become members of the Leaders' Club. Additional training and selection by the club advisor is needed before a girl can become a member and be assigned to assist a gym teacher.

The Varsity Club unites outstanding male athletes of any varsity team in one functioning organization.

PROGRAMS

In-school and after-school programs provide the student with diversion from the everyday norm. This year, the Fashion Pacers presented "Mystery of Black," a combination dance, fashion show, lecture, bazaar, and eat-in, and their annual Spring Fashion Show. The Soul Stompers and the Stepping Uniques exhibited their talents to our fair school. Our yearly Martin Luther King and Crispus Attucks programs enlightened us once more.

The Fashion Pacers, an active group this year, also presented a Jazz Concert featuring the Huston Person Trio. Black Awareness Week, sponsored by the Student Council, was very well received by the entire student body.

Thanks to the many people who organized and sponsored these programs, a good time was had by all.

CROSS COUNTRY

The 1970 Cross Country season was, in the eyes of Coach Spivey and his squad, a very rewarding one. Triumphant in seven of ten dual meets, the Panther striders sustained their only losses to Nutley, Columbia and Irvington. The latter part of the season was highlighted by the actions of veteran distance runner Keith Sanders, who placed first in both Big Ten and Essex County meets. But individuals alone do not produce victory in team competition. The success of this year's squad can be attributed mostly to the team's cohesiveness and desire to work as a unit. As is sometimes the case, the loss due to graduation will be painfully felt in next year's team.

SOCCER

This year's soccer team did not experience a profitable season, their sole victory taking place over Clifford Scott. However, Coach Moiseenko and his soccer squad are to be commended for their fine display of teamwork, determination, and superior sportsmanship. Three of this year's team deserve special mention — Patrick Lewis, Julio Hernandez and David Humphrey. They received mention on All-State, Big Ten, and All-Essex teams, respectively. With a returning nucleus of nine lettermen, the outlook for next season is particularly bright.

BASKETBALL

More often than not this season, the Panther hoopsters found themselves savoring the sweet taste of victory, as was the case in 17 of 18 contests in regular season play. They were thwarted only once by Orange but this loss was of no consequence to Coach Milner and his quintet en route to becoming Big Ten champions for the third consecutive year.

East Orange, first seeded in the Essex County Tournament, advanced to the semi-finals by defeating Mountain and Orange, only to fall to Bloomfield's speed and skill.

The background of the page is a dark, textured surface. Overlaid on this are several large, light-colored, geometric shapes that resemble folded paper or cardboard. These shapes are arranged in a way that creates a sense of depth and perspective. One shape on the left is a long, narrow strip with a pointed end. Another shape on the right is a larger, more complex structure with multiple facets and a grid-like pattern on its top surface. The overall effect is a modern, abstract composition.

EPILOGUE

Often, we only see East Orange High engulfed with students. In our last glimpse, let's witness the beauty of the place wherein we found our beauty.

A parting poetic photo essay can remind us that we have graduated from a pretty together place.

That must be why we graduated as a pretty together people.

Keep on pushing, Class of '71.
